TITANIC SURVIVORS

May Reach New York About 1
O'Clock Tomorrow Morning

The Cunard liner Carpathia bearing the survivors of the sunken steamer Titanic was making her way slowly toward New York this afternoon, groping through the fog, her wireless as silent as that of the stricken vessel, a small part of whose human cargo she carried. According to the best reckoning she will reach her dock here not before one o'clock tomorrow morning.

Wireless messages bombarded the Carpathia all last night and this morning but with small results. A message from President Taft, asking for news of his aide, Major Butt, remained unanswered, and the indications are that no details of the disaster will be known until the Carpathia reaches port. Judging from the nature of the few messages from the few survivors aboard the Carpathia the inference is that most of them are unaware of the awful tragedy that took place aboard the Titanic after she was abandoned. Thus many wives are ignorant of their husbands' fate and are hoping that they were picked up by some passing liner which subsequently rendered aid similar to that of the Carpathia. In New York preparations have been made to receive the survivors when they land. Food, clothing, ambulances and other necessities and luxuries have been provided; the police protection will be ample and every measure will be taken to protect the unfortunates who have been under such a terrific strain. For the women of the steerage a committee of prominent New York women has been formed to house and take care of them until relatives abroad can be notified of their plight.

RESIDENT TAFT REPLIES TO MESSAGE OF CARDINALS

WASHINGTON, April 18.—The expression of sympathy sent to President Taft yesterday by the three American cardinals has been acknowledged by the president's letter made public today by Cardinal Gibbons as follows:

"My Dear Cardinal Gibbons: I have received the written expression by the Roman Catholic archbishops of the country in joint session with the Titanic and on behalf of the bereaved trustees of the Catholic university of I beg to express a grateful appreciation of their profound grief of the awful loss of this message of sympathy. I note in your communication the

STRIKERS IN RIOT

Attacked Police With Stones and Broke Windows of Hamilton Mills

As a result of a riot which broke out at the Hamilton mill early this morning, four police officers were injured and five arrests were made. Special Officer John J. Briggs of the Hamilton mill narrowly escaped with his life, while a score of windows in the latter mill were broken from flying stones and bricks thrown by the strikers. At one time the crowd became so threatening that a shot had to be fired in the air in order to disperse the disturbers. Police reinforcements were called for and in a short time, however, the infuriated crowd was quieted down and the prisoners were sent to the police station, while the wounded officers were receiving treatment.

WIDENER WAS LOST

NEW YORK, April 18.—A wireless despatch received here at the White Star line offices gives the information that George D. Widener of Philadelphia is not among the survivors of the Titanic aboard the Carpathia.

DEATHS

FILTEAU—John B. Filteau, a resident of Lowell for the past 22 years, died at 8:15 Wednesday night at his new home, 48 Banks street, Somerville, at the age of 71 years, 10 months and 3 days. He is survived by his wife, Philomena; one daughter, Mrs. Delia M. Polier of Somerville; three sons, Joseph C. of Manchester, N. H., and Henry A. and W. Eldridge; and two grand-daughters, Pauline M. Polier and Elaine A. Polier, both of Somerville.

TO THE PUBLIC

The "full crew" bill, so called, which will require the railroads to employ an UNNECESSARY brakeman on many freight trains, is being pushed through the legislature with all the power of the organized trainmen. THIS BILL will cost the railroads approximately $500,000.00 PER ANNUM, and if extended to the entire New England Railroad system, will cost over $1,000,000.00 per annum. The RAILROAD COMMISSION, in a report dated September 23, 1908, HAS DECIDED that this EXTRA BRAKEMAN IS NOT NEEDED FOR THE SAFETY OR CONVENIENCE OF THE PUBLIC OR FOR THE SAFETY OF THE EMPLOYEES THEMSELVES.

At present such a number of brakemen is employed as the railroad officials, with the approval of the Railroad Commission, deem sufficient. NO ACCIDENT has ever taken place which can be fairly attributed to the absence of an extra brakeman, or which WOULD HAVE BEEN AVERTED BY the presence of an EXTRA BRAKEMAN. AUTOMATIC COUPLERS, AUTOMATIC BRAKES and BLOCK SIGNALS introduced by the railroads at the cost of many millions of dollars, HAVE CHANGED THE DUTIES OF FREIGHT BRAKEMEN materially in the last ten years since this bill was first introduced. If the railroads are compelled, against the judgment of their officials and of the Railroad Commission, to employ unnecessary men, THE PUBLIC MUST EXPECT TO PAY THE BILL IN INCREASED RATES. There is no other source of income. THE PUBLIC EXPECTS ELECTRIFICATION, TUNNELS, IMPROVEMENTS IN SERVICE AND EQUIPMENT, at a cost of scores of millions of dollars. IS IT WILLING TO PAY FOR UNNECESSARY FREIGHT BRAKEMEN, whose employment organized railroad employees alone demand?

If this bill is passed this year, what will prevent another bill being introduced next year commanding the employment of extra engineers, firemen, station men, conductors, ticket takers, section men or motor men? WHERE IS THIS TO STOP?

DOES THE PUBLIC who in the end must pay the bill DESIRE that the railroads employ unnecessary labor and THAT IMPROVEMENTS FOR THE GENERAL GOOD BE HALTED? We do not believe so and we ask you to advise your Representatives and Senators accordingly.

BUILDERS' BANQUET

Speeches by Mayor O'Donnell and Others---Sec'y Weaver's Report

The New American hotel, was the scene of a pretty gathering last night when the members of the Builders' exchange observed the 24th anniversary of their organization. The affair consisted of a banquet and speeches by Mayor O'Donnell, Supt. Welch of the police department and James P. Sawyer, clerk of the police court. An orchestra was in attendance and supplied music during the repast.

At 8 o'clock in the afternoon the members held their annual business meeting and elected officers for the coming year with the following result: Patrick Conlon, president; George H. Taylor, vice president; Alvan H. Weaver, secretary; John F. Sawyer, Nelson D. Kestler, John J. O'Connor, William H. Penn, Joseph T. Thomas and

Ed P. Vinal, directors.

Secretary Weaver submitted his report for the past year and also the list of members of the exchange.

The toastmaster at the banquet was Mr. Patrick Conlon, who after extending his greetings to the members of the organization and their friends introduced as the first speaker, His Honor, Mayor James E. O'Donnell.

Mayor O'Donnell

His Honor, Mayor O'Donnell was cordially received. He delivered a very lengthy address dealing with the administration of the new charter and the various municipal departments. In speaking of the charter, His Honor said:

One hears from time to time considerable adverse criticism, but in every case investigation shows that the criticism is not against the new charter from men who were honestly opposed to it before its adoption. Nothing is said adversely of the charter itself, but the criticism is directed against the men who have been elected to carry out its provisions, who are doing their best to live up to it rigidly. That criticism gives the members here little concern, for it comes from disappointed politicians and office seekers who will not see anything of merit in the present administration, and we all know that there's none so blind as he who will not see. This is an opportune time, when the assessors are doing their spring work, to mention some of the criticisms. Much has been heard of the unnecessary clerks at city hall, the high wages paid, etc., together with the loud demand that the assessors go out and get more revenue for the city.

The city of Lowell is a great corporation in which each citizen, rich or poor, is a stockholder; and the municipal council, the directors. It is the duty of each citizen to conduct his affairs with the city with the same spirit of honesty and fairness that he demands from the officials representing him at city hall. But does he do it? Each year the assessors send out lists to men of personal property and large incomes, requiring a sworn return of each for taxation. What do they send back? Gentlemen, you would be surprised, surprise isn't the word, you would be astounded to learn the names of some of the men who swear that the income from their profession, trade or employment is over $200 a year, the sum exempted by law, and who swear with equal solemnity as to the diminutive amount of their personal estates. And yet some of these pharisees deplore conditions at city hall, its extravagance and its high taxes, and rant about civic pride.

Another critic is the business man who, thinking he is being taxed too much, and that money is being spent needlessly, the same man charges the long price on every dollar's worth he sells the city, and isn't ever particular as to quantity and quality. The fact that a majority of municipal council are on a crusade to get dollar for dollar in the purchase of material and supplies makes these business men unpopular in certain quarters.

The mayor then referred to the departments under his own special care. The police department he said at the present time is in the best shape it has been in for years. I have received many compliments for it. The growth of the city has demanded additional expenditures, and hence additional expenditures. Early in the year the municipal council was asked to increase the pay of the policemen twenty-five cents per day and irrespective of how much the members personally would have liked to grant that request, the money was not forthcoming at that time and it was necessary to refuse it. The policemen have accepted the situation gracefully without abandoning hope and during the recent labor trouble they stood out in striking contrast to the recent occurrence in a neighboring city. The matter of police pensions, an ever increasing expense to the city, was made law before I came into office and hence it must be respected by me as far as it keeps within the limits of the law. But one case has arisen which is in the judgment of many citizens is illegal and I deemed it my duty to have it settled by the courts. I refer to the Moffatt pension case.

Discussing the subject of tuberculosis he said:

The question to be considered is how can it be reduced to the smallest figure without neglecting the victims of the disease, and that brings us to the question now before the municipal council, the establishment of a contagious disease hospital, which will include a tuberculosis department.

At present these tuberculosis victims are cared for at Rutland, North Reading, Tewksbury and other cities and towns that have their own tuberculosis hospitals. By carrying for all of these patients under one roof it is believed the cost of their maintenance can be reduced materially.

A state law requires the city to own and maintain a contagious-disease hospital but outside of the so-called small-pox hospital in Chestnut street we are lax in our respect for the law. At present the agitation over the proposed hospital is waxing warm and without any apparent progress. The doctors disagree and when "doctors disagree who shall decide?" The selfishness of human nature enters discordantly into the discussion and while all agree that there should be established a tuberculosis disease hospital, each wants it near somebody's close proximity and far removed from his own.

With reference to the law and claims departments, I should have mentioned earlier, the fact that one great advantage under the new charter is the cooperation it affords between departments. Recently we read in the newspapers of the repairing of a fire engine at a reduced cost to the city by the water department. With the law and claims department this co-operation will be worked to good advantage. Hereafter, claims were awarded through a committee of the city council, and in some cases the necessity of getting the votes was greater than of proving a claim. Just before the close of last year a considerable amount of money was offered to pay certain claims for personal injuries, can assure you such a thing will not be repeated while I am over the claims department.

The state aid department is another source of unavoidable expense. The statutes provide for the expenditures for the old soldiers. In this department an experiment is being tried which it is hoped will prove successful.

In the fire and water departments the results of the new management were strikingly apparent in many instances, particularly in the collection of substantial sums, amounting in several thousands of dollars, from recalcitrant corporations, one of them a bill 11 years old which had seemed to have been even attempted to collect, and many others varying from one to 10 years since their original presentation. The saving of $2700 in three months in the supplies for the fire department and of the radical changes which had been made in its organization and running was also commended on.

The street and sewer departments have already made their plans for the out-of-door season's work. There has been some talk to the effect that there would be little work this year because the commissioners had cut down the appropriations of these departments. Nothing could be further from the fact and there should be as much, if not more, work for laborers than last year.

The street department with its teams for permanent street improvements will have more money to spend this year than in several years past, while the sewer department this year has been given $15,000 more than it spent last year.

Following the mayor's address, Commissioner Connelly was called upon by James P. Sawyer, clerk of the police court.

Mr. James P. Sawyer, clerk of the police court, was the next speaker and he dwelt at length on the vital incidents of the American revolution, his

HOMELY, YET ADMIRABLE AND ENVIED; HER SECRET

The convention crowd in the lobby made a path for her, cast admiring glances, then with longing eyes followed her to the theater. It was at the Boncharrain in Detroit. The incident was recalled when I changed to sit across the table from the woman. What was it about her that caused all that commotion? She wasn't handsome; she was lacking in form and feature. Yet she had some mysterious fascination. Her round, rosy cheeks must be the secret. Really, I've never beheld its equal. Yet, trying to pick up acquaintance, I learned the reason. "I know I'm not built for beauty," she smiled, "but I've tried to make the most of my own charms. I've learned that men other make-ups and make-up. I have cosmetics; these are just two things I ever use and they promote natural loveliness and beautiful appearance."

"When my complexion began to age, I got an ounce of marcelled wax at the drug store, apply at night like a cream and wash it off in the morning. This gradually takes off the outer-skin, then I have a natural complexion, magnetically beautiful."

"You see, I've never bothered me. At my reception, I battle my face to a solution made by dissolving in ounces of powdered sawdust in a half-gallon of witch hazel. It works like magic. Come tomorrow in Town Tattler."

The man entered the police station last night and asked for lodging, and stated that his home was in Buffalo, N. Y., but during the course of the testimony in court the defendant said that he belonged in Savannah, Georgia, and left there about a month ago. The man was found guilty and sent to the state farm.

Although the strike is practically settled in all the other cotton mills of the city, the troubles at the Hamilton will have not been remedied for the reason that the agent, Mr. Whittier, is said to have refused to meet a committee of his employees in accordance with the agreement he made last Saturday if the committee's story be true. The other mill agents have received their respective committees and have granted most of the concessions demanded by them. The committee of the Hamilton mill, according to their report, called at the office of that mill several times in order to get a conference with Agent Whittier, but in every instance he refused to meet them, saying he was too busy, or that he would see them after they had returned to work.

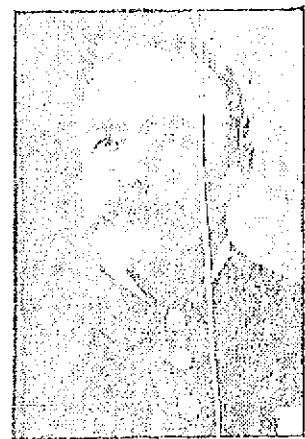

In accordance with this report the strike was still in effect at the Hamilton and this morning some 400 men and women formed the usual picket line in Jackson street and marched up and down the street several times, shouting and cheering and calling upon those who were going to work to join the ranks.

There were only a half dozen police officers in the vicinity as it was presumably believed the strike was over. The officers were in command of Sergt. Giroux and they were far from thinking a riot would be started, but they were prepared for anything that would occur.

ARREST OF A MAN

STARTED THE TROUBLE
The trouble at the Hamilton mill was started when a man named William Giroux, who was a member of the Hamilton mill, was arrested by the police. He was charged with being a member of a riotous assembly. He was released on bail and returned to the mill. The trouble continued for several days and the mill was closed.

MURDER AND SUICIDE

BOSTON, April 18.—Miss Ida Martine was murdered by an Italian known only as Nick, who committed suicide in the office of a firm of waste manufacturers on Harrison street here today. The young woman was employed as a helper by the firm. She came here from New York a few years ago. It is said that the man knew Miss Martine in New York and had loved her for a long time.

The detective called at the office of the company and asked for the young woman. Miss Martine, who was sitting at her desk, was the first to see the detective. She was very nervous and she was crying. She said that she had never seen the man before.

CARDINAL URGES STRINGENT RULES

WASHINGTON, April 18.—In commenting upon the sinking of the Titanic here yesterday, Cardinal O'Connell offered the opinion that stringent regulations should be adopted governing the trans-Atlantic liners for the protection of passengers against similar accidents.

The cardinal, who is in Washington to attend a series of annual meetings of the Catholic university, expressed deep sympathy for the relatives and friends of those who lost their lives. He declared that the disaster, in its magnitude, had shocked the entire world.

"But it is a tragedy," said the cardinal, "when men should not merely give themselves up to grief. Immediate steps should be taken to provide by law certain regulations looking to the safety of those who trust their lives to the companies controlling travel across the ocean."

"Thousands of Americans are constantly crossing and recrossing the ocean and their lives should not be endangered or sacrificed to the greed of companies or to the desire to create new records for ocean travel."

"The world would be spared tremendous shocks such as the present one if a safer policy in ocean travel were adopted."

The cardinal remarked that he almost invariably takes the southern route when traveling to Europe and if obliged to sail over the northern, he makes sure of taking passage by a line whose boats take no chance when there is even the slightest danger.

PATRIOTS DAY

Quiet Observance Here Tomorrow

Tomorrow, Patriots day is a legal holiday in Concord and Lexington. The patriotic Americans first showed their colors to the British. There will be no formal observance of the day by the citizens of Lowell last year, but a list of events will be run off in this city.

CITY PLANNING

Conference to be Held in Boston

The fourth annual conference city planning will be held in Boston May 17, 18 and 19 and Mayor Fitzgerald has sent an invitation to Mayor O'Donnell of this city asking him to attend. In his letter to Mayor O'Donnell the mayor of Boston states:

Legislation embracing the city planning is either on the statute books or is being considered by the most progressive American communities. The city planning conference is a most desirable opportunity for the exchange of ideas and the securing of information from the various cities and states of America.

The great value of the conference is in the exchange of ideas by city engineers, architects, and city planners, and the securing of information from the various cities and states of America.

Annual Event of Ladies' Aid of St. Patrick's Parish

The annual Easter carnival of the Ladies' Aid Society of St. Patrick's parish at Associate hall last evening proved to be a great success. The attendance was large and the entertainment was highly enjoyed by all present.

The proceeds of the carnival is used for charity. The Colonial subject under the direction of Miss Alice Gilligan was a pretty feature and all the young people who took part did exceedingly well. They were as follows: Andrew Barrett, Esther Kelley, Leroy Barrett, Grace Barrett, James Keefe, Marcelle Courtney, James O'Sullivan, Alice Saunders.

The music by St. Cecilia's orchestra was highly appreciated throughout the evening. The next number on the program was a clever sketch, entitled "The District School," the cast of characters being as follows: Teacher, Miss Priscilla Pina Hannahan; pupils: Mable Connor, Carl Garvey, Venus Gwyer, Isadora Harrington, Charley Doyle, Duke Higgins, Gladys Holland, Rosalind Hogan, Mary Ann Lambert, Maudie Shugart, Felice Lynch, Ajax Keefe, secretary: Mrs. Jennie Rediker, treasurer: Viola Quinn, Lloyd Sullivan, Clementia Slattery, Elizabeth Tobin, Blossom Sullivan, Marmaduke Wheel-ton; school committee, Cyrus Roerke, Helen Callahan, Hiram Quinn; Miss Julia G. Slattery, accompanist.

General dancing began before 10 o'clock and continued to midnight, with music being provided by Suetan's Pawtucket orchestra.

The tables and booths about the hall were all handsomely decorated and they did a thriving business.

The officers of the society are: Miss Josephine Murphy, president; Mrs. D. P. Sullivan, vice president; Miss Helena M. O'Sullivan, secretary; Rev. John J. McHugh, treasurer and spiritual director.

The officers of the evening and those who had charge of the tables were: Dr. P. J. Bagley, general manager; John J. Sullivan, assistant manager; Jeremiah O'Sullivan, Esq., floor director; Dr. John H. Donovan, assistant director; Dr. P. J. McHugh and Dr. Harold B. Plunkett, chief aids; Rev. John J. McHugh, chairman of reception committee.

THE LOWELL PITCHERS

Showed Up Well in Yesterday's Game With Providence

The Providence Grays of the International league were with us yesterday at Spaulding park. They came here to get some practice prior to opening their league season today. They got it too, and they had to go some. Despite the fact that Lowell is a Class D team our Grays made the Providence boys play hard all the time and the latter just nosed out a victory, the score being 4 to 2.

The Providence lineup Manager Fred Lake has a number of former big leaguers, and at times the latter displayed their experience by pulling off some very classy plays. The Lowell team played a great game and when one stops to think of the calibre of the men on the opposing team the exhibition that Lowell put up will be appreciated.

Present at the game was Steve Flannigan, former manager of the Brockton team who is now doing scout duty for the major league.

The Lowell pitchers showed up well. In the first three innings, Zeiser, who came in from the Milwaukee team in exchange for Elbaez, performed and he gave an excellent exhibition. He blanked the team for the time he pitched and only allowed one hit. Wolfgang went in for the next three and the visitors got four hits, but only scored one run. A feature of Wolfgang's work was striking out two men in the fourth inning with the bases crowded and the last man went out on three pitched balls. In the last two of the innings Maybom worked and though he only allowed two hits, an error and a base on balls, he notched three runs for the Providence team, and the game.

The hitting was pretty even, each team getting 7 bingles. As some of the fans on the first base side lines called to Manager Gray to give Miller a chance, the latter was sent to first in place of Wright. He is a lanky fellow and looks like a good one though he fell down on the first chance he got. The visitors showed up well and they are all big men. In the lineup were several whom followers of the game have read about in the show. One of these is Schmidt, who caught many a world's series game with the Detroit Tigers. He gave a fine account of himself and during the game exchanged greetings with the real "dopers" on the third base bleachers. He showed that he has considerable speed and speed was the feature of the entire team. At shortstop Rock showed great form. He is a very heady player, who covered that position for the Chicago White Sox a few years ago, and contributed several classy plays. There was no scoring until the sixth when the visitors sent one man over. In this inning, with one out Elston got a base on balls and stole second. Atz faunted, Gillespie singled and Elton scored. Each team got two hits in the seventh. For Providence, Rock went to first on four wide eyes and took second on Schmidt's sacrifice. Harden got by on Miller's error. Tutwiler hit to Maybom who got Rock at third. Lathers hit to left and Harden and Tutwiler came home. In Lowell's half Magee got on through a boot by Atz, but was forced at second by Miller. Bouttes and Nye came across with hits and Miller counted. Bouttes and Nye came across with hits and Miller counted. Bouttes scored on a wild pitch.

In the eighth inning Providence scored one which gave them the game. Elston slammed out a bean of a three-bagger and scored on a squeeze worked to perfection by Atz. In the latter part of the inning Pop Rising made the longest hit of the game sending the ball to the extreme corner of left field. He got as far as third and scored when Magee grounded out to the initial sack. There was no more scoring.

All roads will lead to Lincoln

Mark on the afternoon of Patriots day, when the Lincolns will cross bats with the strong Y. M. C. A. team that captured the pennant in the strong Brook league for the past three years. The Y. M. C. A. will have the same team that represented the association in the past, so the game should be hotly contested from the start, as the rivalry is intense between the two teams. The Lincoln's schedule calls for games with some of the fastest amateur and semi-professional teams in the state, and there should be some lively times at Lincoln park this summer. The team has an open date for Saturday, April 20, and would like to hear from the Y. M. C. A., Brookside, C. Y. M. L., or Manhattan.

The Pawtucket Grays will open the season with the Riverdies Friday afternoon, Patriots day at 3 o'clock on the North common as the permit for No. 1 grounds has been granted. The Mysteries have a great baseball team and would like to play any team in the city at the age of 11 or 12. Send all challenges to Lawrence Hart, 107 Fulton street. They will play the Holy Name Juniors Friday, April 19th on the Mysteries' grounds.

PRINCIPALS READY

For Bouts at Lowell Social and Athletic Club

The bill for tomorrow night at the Lowell Social and Athletic club is one of the best that has ever been arranged by Matchmaker Gardner. In the main bout two of the fastest men in the New England states at their weight are scheduled to appear. One is Billy Nixon, the champion of New England. He has met some of the fastest men at his weight in the country and has established a great record. In his bout with Butler Nelson he showed that he possesses a knockout with either hand and he also displayed that he is very clever on his feet. His footwork was a great factor in the bout; he has trained well for this meeting and reports that he is in the pink of condition. Eddie Flynn who will oppose the fast Nixon is also among the leaders at his weight. He held the lightweight amateur championship for several years. After entering the professional ranks he has never been defeated. He is anxious to win tomorrow night and promises to put up a lively exhibition. The bout calls for 13 rounds and should be fast. The semi-final is also a very classy number; this will be furnished by Young Boyle and Lowell and Chester Bernard of Lynn. These are pretty evenly matched and their offering ought to be very interesting. They are scheduled to go 3 rounds, but each expects to win before the limit is reached. The remainder of the program includes two preliminaries and both look very good. In the first one Billy Will, who hails from Forge Village, and Young Joe Grim of Boston will exchange greetings.

FOUR STRAIGHT WINS

Lowell Textile Defeated Boston University

In a rather uninteresting and one-sided game the Textile boys added another victory to their list yesterday afternoon by defeating Boston University to the tune of 17 to 4. The game was rather drawn out due to repeated errors by the visitors who became rather discouraged when the locals got away with a flying start, scoring six runs in the first inning and establishing a lead which would be next to impossible to overtake.

Finanski featured in the hitting making three clean ones, two of which were good for two bases, while Brickett slammed a lively one over center field in the fourth which sent him romping around the diamond for three bags and started another slogging match for the locals.

Although crippled in today's game by a change in the lineup owing to the injury of Catcher Thaxter in the game with Rindge on Saturday, the local team has yet to taste defeat as 15-

SOCCER NOTES

The Lowell Athletics, formerly the Y. M. C. A. soccer team, will travel to Maryland Friday to play the strong team of that neighborhood. The local team has played there twice before, the first time being defeated and the second time returned with a victory. The following players will report Friday at the depot at 10:45: Greenwood, Swindolls, Blackburn, Mahon, Horle, Kelly, Taylor, Burrows Bros., Pinkerton, Brown and Clegg.

A SLIGHT FIRE

IN BRADLEY BUILDING IN CENTRAL STREET

An alarm from box 112 was pulled in yesterday afternoon for a slight fire in the Bradley building which is under construction in Central street. The fire started in a coat belonging to one of the employees, the latter having left a lighted pipe in one of the pockets of his coat. The partition on which the coat was hanging was burned but the firemen prevented the blaze from spreading.

PRESIDENT TAFT SENT FAST SCOUT CRUISERS TO LEARN DEFINITE NEWS OF MAJOR ARCHIBALD BUTT

SCOUT CRUISER CHESTER

PRESIDENT TAFT AND HIS FAVORITE AID, MAJOR BUTT

SCOUT CRUISER SALEM

WASHINGTON, April 18.—President Taft was deeply grieved at the news that Major Archibald Butt was probably lost on the Titanic, and so long as there was hope that he could be reported as saved the president was eager for the latest information concerning survivors. When it became known that the wireless apparatus on the Carpathia was unable to send messages to a great distance President Taft ordered the scout cruisers Chester and Salem, to proceed eastward to meet the Cunard liner bringing in the hundreds rescued from the Titanic's boats. The Chester and Salem were at sea for his many trips, and the two men carried a confidential message from him by wireless and were, had become fast friends. Major Butt, President Taft to Pope Pius X. Major Butt what they were to do. Major Butt recently went to Europe ostensibly for, Butt was unmarried.

TWO GREAT PLAYERS IN WHOM WORK BASEBALL FANS ARE KEENLY INTERESTED

TY COBB

JOE JACKSON

PHOTOS BY AMERICAN PRESS ASSOCIATION

CLEVELAND, April 18.—Baseball fans are keeping pretty close tabs on the two great players, Ty Cobb and Joe Jackson, who had such a battle for the world's batting honors last year. Cobb was the champion of 1911, but he certainly will have to extend himself if he intends to follow the pace that has been set by the Cleveland outfielder this season. In the recent four game series with the Tigers here the fans had a good opportunity to look over the two great players. In the four games Jackson outplayed his rival. He went to the plate eighteen times, made six hits, had nine putouts, one assist, one error, and stole three bases. Cobb went to bat sixteen times, made two hits, scored two runs, had eleven putouts, one assist, and one error. It is said that failing to get a good start with a 1-0 advantage, Cobb was 1-0, Cobb was 1-0.

MANY BALL PLAYERS ARE ECCENTRIC

THEY COULD always swing three bats as he walks to the plate. The fact that one bat is so much heavier after holding three in a row, aside from the separation of the thumb.

Nap Lajoie always draws a line in the dirt of the batter's box before taking his position. He will not take the pitcher without this preliminary.

Harry Kelly must throw a curve ball just before starting to pitch. His last to the catcher when winding up between innings is always a curve.

Rube Olding insists on the Baltimore coat of the Athletics standing in a certain place when he is at bat.

Always before delivering the ball Russell Ford adjusts his cap.

After receiving the ball from the catcher Combs usually jugs it a several times before getting on the rubber.

Bill Donovan dislikes to strike out the first batter. He believes it the forerunner of bad luck.

Heinie Pette, when manager of the Colonials, was adverse to having any pictures taken of his team. He believed it bad omen for the game.

Orville Woodruff was broken hearted in case he saw a cross eyed colored man before the game.

Robert Robinson never touches the plate with his bat, but he says he is not superstitious.

Bill Armour, when watching a game in which one of his pitchers is doing well, waxes warm if some curious spectator asks how many hits have been made off the pitcher. Bill says such a question invariably brings on an avalanche of bingles in the next inning.

CRACK CREWS HAVE ENTERED FOR OLYMPIAD

THE crew races in connection with the Olympic games to be held at Stockholm during July are attracting far more attention throughout Europe than is the case in this country. England is likely to be represented by both eights and fours, including the famous Thames Rowing club four, which won the Stewards' cup at Henley last summer. This combination, which consists of Bruce Logan, stroke; C. G. Hought, 3; K. Vernon, 2, and J. Berneford, bow, is understood to be willing to make the trip if selected. It is believed that the rowing conditions are particularly favorable to the English fours style and four.

The course to be used for the regatta will be carried on a small lake about a mile and a half long. The course is dead straight for 1,700 out of 2,000 meters. It is dead water and sheltered from the wind with a road and a path, along either of which it is possible to follow the races from start to finish. The course is only a few minutes' ride from the center of town.

DETROIT experts claim that Oscar Stanage of the Tigers is the fastest and best throwing catcher in the American League. They declare that if he were a little more bery he would be the greatest in the business.

Return Ball Kept Flaherty In Baseball

"PAT FLAHERTY'S return ball," says Heinie Pette, "kept him in fast company a long time after he had nothing else. He'd shoot one over and if you missed it the catcher would fairly bullet the ball back to Pat, who would instantly send it across before you regained your balance from the previous swing."

"One time Pat threw one to John Kling. John spun 'round like a top, and Pat immediately fired in his return ball. Kling was still revolving, and coming around for the fourth time, his bat met the ball and belted it into the deep field for three bases. That blow almost broke Pat's heart and really caused him to think about retiring."

TOO MUCH SPEED IS CAMPBELL'S ONLY FAULT

VIN CAMPBELL, who was traded by the Pirates to Boston for Mike Dooley, literally ran himself off of the Pittsburgh club. At least such is the opinion of Mordecai Brown.

Campbell has speed, lots of speed. In the outfield his speed was a menace, and at times he had Fred Clarke in fear of his life. Ordinarily, when a ball is hit into the doubtful territory between two catchers one of them will stop, yell to the other and let him have it. Not so Campbell.

Many times his tremendous ground covering ability allowed him to snatch a ball almost from Clarke's hands, and the Pirate manager never set himself to catch a fly without having a feeling in the back of his neck that Campbell, heedless of everything but the ball was rushing down on him. He tried to break Vin of the habit, but he was unbreakable. As a result Clarke was not sorry to get rid of the youngster for steady, experienced Mike Dooley.

At bat Campbell's speed, according to Brown, was also a detriment. The moment he faced the pitcher he was, in his mind, starting for first. He never put his whole thought on hitting the ball, but was thinking of his start. As a result he never truly hit up to his possibilities, and for all he is younger than Dooley, was of far less use than the ex-Giant is expected to be.

TRYOUT FOR PENTATHLON AND DECATHLON IN MAY

TRYOUTS for the Olympic Pentathlon and Decathlon competitions will be held in three sections of the country in order to give the athletes of the Pacific coast, central west and east an opportunity of competing.

The team selection committee will be greatly influenced in the selection of the men for these events by the performances of those competing in the tryouts. These tryouts, however, will be merely guides, and the committee may select an athlete who was unable to compete in these tryouts if in the opinion of the committee his ability warrants it. The committee is not bound to select for the team every or any athlete who wins or competes in these tryouts.

The Pentathlon, the tryouts for which will be held May 18, comprise the running broad jump, throwing the javelin (with the javelin held in the middle), best hand; 200 meters flat, throwing the discus, best hand; 1,500 meters flat.

The Decathlon tryouts will take place May 24 and 25. This event is made up of 100 meters flat, running broad jump, putting the weight, best hand; running high jump, 400 meters flat, javelin race, 110 meters, throwing the discus, best hand; pole jump, throwing the javelin (with the javelin held in the middle), best hand; 1,500 meters flat.

Clarke Says Wagner Will Make Good Captain

ALTHOUGH he has been in the major leagues over a score of years, this season for the first time we will have the pleasure of seeing Hans Wagner, Pittsburgh's great shortstop, in the role of captain. Manager Clarke says he will make a good one.

Athletic Players Are an Inquisitive Lot

HARRY DAVIS attributes much of the success of the Philadelphia Athletics to the fact that the young members of the team are great on asking questions. "I believe," says Davis, "that Eddie Collins, Jack Barry, Frank Baker and Jack McInnis, the Athletics' infield, asked more questions than any other teams had."

KEELER TELLS OF HARDEST PITCHERS FOR HIM TO HIT

"I FOUND during the long time that I was in the big leagues that Amos Rusie and Ed Walsh were the hardest pitchers for me to hit," said Willie Keeler recently. "I have gone through a season without striking out, and Rusie and Walsh had the distinction of making me fan twice in one game. Rusie did the trick when I was with the Baltimore club back in 1894."

"Amos could shoot them over. He had more speed on his curve ball than some of the present day pitchers have on their fast one. When the big fellow, who was with the Giants, was going right he was a wonder. How he could buzz them over the plate! I know for a fact that when he was going good it was not necessary for him to pitch any curves. That fast one always had a beautiful hop on it and it was impossible to connect with it."

"Ed Walsh was another great one with that 'spitball' of his. I have seen all kinds of wet balls, but Walsh has one that takes the cake. I always thought Jack Chesbro had about the best I ever saw until I saw Walsh. Ed's breaks better than any I have ever faced. Some days a 'spitball' pitcher hasn't the break on his delivery that he has on others. But when Walsh is good he is a great pitcher. He may not be effective without the 'spitball,' but they tell me that he still has the 'spitball' going as good as ever."

BASEBALL GLEANINGS HOT OFF THE BAT

TODD EVERS, brother of the famous Johnny Evers of the Chicago Nationals, has entered professional baseball and signed up with the Wilkesbarre team of the New York State league.

The Pittsburgh team will do the most traveling of any of the sixteen major league clubs during the 1912 season. Allowing twenty-five men on each trip, Barney Dreifuss will have to buy 316,675 miles of transportation.

One of the big question marks hanging over the Boston Americans is, Will Buck O'Brien make good? If he does, Jim McAlister may be pining a pennant contender by July 4.

A ball player is as touchy on the age question as a woman. Old timers who have played professional ball for twenty or twenty-five years generally claim to be about thirty-five years old. A ball player willing to own up to being forty has rarely been heard of.

In little Olaf Hendrickson the Boston Americans seem to have a very promising youngster. While Hendrickson is better at the bat than the average and is a grand fielder, he is best on the paths. He beat out four infield hits in Detroit last season. One was hit to Dony Bush and fielded cleanly, but the little Canton man beat it out.

Minor Leaguer Holds Unique Record

IT is not unusual for a big league player to remain with the same team for eight, nine, ten or eleven years, but instances of a minor leaguer sticking to the same club for eleven seasons are limited to one, just one. Doc Wiseman, the Nashville outfielder, is the possessor of this unique record. Wiseman started in Nashville in 1899 and has remained there ever since, being given his release recently.

It is doubtful if Wiseman's record will ever be duplicated, for it is more than unusual to find a player who for eleven years is not good enough to go higher and yet is too good to go back. Ten seasons, anyway, without showing signs of deterioration.

The records show that in the eleven years Wiseman was in 1,400 games, of which the largest number played in a single season was 143 each in 1897 and 1910. In only one year, the first, did he fail to take part in less than 100 games, 56 being the total then. Doc had a reputation for his regularity, missing a game only through injuries.

He went to bat some 5,000 times. The figures as to the exact number cannot be had, as the "bat bats" in 1902 are omitted by the guide. However, in ten seasons he was up exactly 4,724 times. The year 1902 excepted, the runs made by him total 661, the largest number of which were made in 1904, when he crossed the plate ninety-one times. Fifty-one, in 1906, were the lowest he secured in a single season.

AMERICA'S PROSPECTS IN OLYMPIC GAMES

By TOMMY CLARK.

THERE appears to be considerable confidence among the amateur athletes in England that the British team is going to make a big record in the Olympic games next summer in Sweden, basing their hopes upon the Oxford and Cambridge runners to a great extent, with an anchor to windward in sprinters from the provinces. One of their chief hopes rests with McMillan of Cambridge for the sprints, and Baker in the mile and half mile is another. That these men are dangerous for all American athletes is undoubted, but at the same time there are many runners in this country who, if they can be induced to join the team which goes to Stockholm on the Finland, will make the Englishmen run faster than they have thus far to get away with the honors. The west is particularly strong in sprinters just now, and it is more than likely that that section will be called upon to uphold the honor of America.

In the 100 meter race F. R. Craig, with his undoubted record of 9 4-5 seconds for 100 yards and his 21 1-5 seconds for 200 yards, is the pick of the lot and of the country. If he can be induced to join the team he will give McMillan the races of his life beyond question. His team mates from the west might include F. R. Helott of the Chicago Athletic association, with a record of 15 seconds; J. Wasson of Notre Dame and C. Grant of Ohio State universities, both of them equal to 10 1-5 seconds, while H. W. Ford, who ran second to Craig when he made the 200 meters in 21 3-5 seconds is by no means a weakling.

In the east the sprinters are not so strong, but Alvah Meyer is coming fast, having already left Rosenberger, his club mate of the Irish American Athletic club, behind. Gwin Henry of Texas, if he comes back, and he says he can, may make the team and add materially to its strength. Under these circumstances the confidence of British athletes may be considerably shaken when these men begin to show their speed.

When it comes to the middle distances, the 400 and 800 meter runs, this country is strong, both east and west. Ira Davenport of the University of Chicago has done better than 19 for the quarter and has a record of 1 minute 12 1-5 seconds for the half, while Lester Harmon of the University of Michigan has made the distances in 53 seconds and 1 minute 55 seconds respectively. E. F. J. Lindberg of the Chicago Athletic association has made the quarter in 45 seconds and F. C. Clark of Miami university and John Dwyer of Notre Dame have run the half in 1 minute 57 seconds. In the east the mention of Shepherd, Kiviat, Gissing, Price, Valentin and McIntee is enough to show the quality of the possible competitors, while Shepherd and Kiviat, with Jones of Cornell in the mile, should give a good account of themselves.

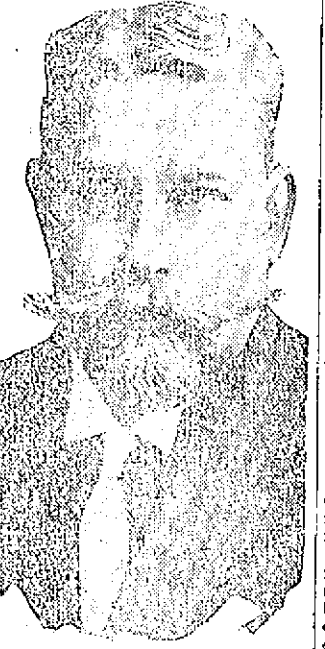

If Jones and Berna of Cornell join the team nothing that England can produce is likely to come near beating them. Certainly Baker, who is the best of the English string, cannot be expected to show sufficient development to catch the Cornellians. In the west the best man is probably Harrah of the University of Michigan, who gave Jones such a good race last year, while Penhag and Kramer are by no means out of consideration. There are no hurdlers in England the equal of half a dozen in this country, and if W. A. Edwards of California starts, J. C. Case of the University of Illinois is his most likely competitor.

In the field sports America ought to beat England in most of the events. George Horine, holder of the world's running high jump of 5 feet 6 1/2 inches, H. E. Porter, the champion of the Olympic of 1908, with a record of 6 feet 3 1/2 inches, is still in form, while Thomas of the New York Athletic club and H. Wahl of the University of Wisconsin have made 6 feet 2 inches; H. Marshall of the Chicago Athletic association 6 feet 2 1/4 inches, and several others have records of 6 feet, the last figure being about the limit of the English jumpers. Among the pole vaulters eligible to represent this country, Walter Dray of the Chicago Athletic association, with his 12 feet 9 1/2 inches, is at the head, while Babcock, Murphy, Collie, Schobinger, Murphy and for some time, but he still maintains that he is as good today as he ever was and can play 181 like a champion. Many of the old timers wonder at Morningstar not being the all round champion of the world, commanding, as he does, a wonderful control and skill with the ivories.

Wagoner all have done better than 12 feet. Then there is a host of broad jumpers, headed by F. C. Irons, with his record of more than 25 feet. F. L. Holmes is another good man at the standing broad jump, and is also among the best at the hop, step and jump now that Dan Ahearn has gone back to England, where he will compete for that country. In throwing the javelin Avery Brundage of Chicago stands high, with his 155 feet, while A. M. Mucks will be hard to beat with the discus, for he has done better than 150 feet in practice. In the hammer and weight events this country ranks first beyond a doubt.

All this calculation by both America and England may be upset, however, when the other nations send their men to the scratch in the games, for Germany and Sweden have not been idle and have been developing some pretty high class athletes, notably Braun of Germany, who is a flier over the middle distances. Sweden's athletes have been in charge of Ernest Hjerberg for some time, and when he sends them to the mark they may surprise the rest. Hjerberg was a first class runner at the time of the old New Jersey Athletic club. Afterward he was the trainer of the Columbia university team and was mainly instrumental in developing the Irish American Athletic club team. He went over to his native land something more than a year ago to become official coach and trainer for all Sweden, and there are reports that some speedy athletes have been developed. Certainly the distance men should be good ones, and there is no reason why, with the application of modern American methods to the development of athletes, there should not be some record breakers on the Swedish team.

JIM DELEHANTY TELLS A PECULIAR ONE ON BAKER

"TALK about playing the batters," says Jim Delehanty, "I'll tell you a peculiar one:

"Now, year before last, this dark skinned Baker of Philadelphia couldn't hit a ball by me. In one game we were one run ahead of them and the ninth inning they got bases full with one out, and I moves over within ten feet of first base for some reason or other and gets away back on the grass."

"Do you know that that Baker hit that ball through there at a mile a minute gait, and I didn't have to move out of my tracks to get it—just stuck my hands up, caught it and tossed to first for an easy double play."

"Baker couldn't get a ball by me year before last. I was always playing right in the way of the balls he hit, but last year, no matter how I would move or where I would play for him, it seemed that he could get a ball by me every time. I could never play him right."

SOUTHPAW RUSSELL READY FOR DUTY.

"Lefty" Russell, Connie Mack's $12,000 beauty, claims his arm has now recovered its full strength, and he expects to show some of the class which he displayed while a member of the Baltimore team.

Hawaiian Is a Real Human Fish

HAWAIIAN swimmers have for many years been noted for speed and endurance, but they have never competed in this country until now, and there is a fair prospect of the representative from that territory, Duke Kahanamoku, representing this country in the Olympic games in Sweden. He belongs to the Hui Malu Swimming club of Honolulu and holds the 50 and 100 yard records.

He is also credited with 45 4-5 seconds for the century in salt water, which is a fifth of a second faster than the world's record, held by Cecil Haley of Australia, but the time was made in practice and is not a record. His best time for the distance in fresh water is 55 2-5 seconds.

Previous to his arrival in this country a few months ago Kahanamoku never swam in an indoor tank, and on his first appearance at Pittsburgh he started out with tremendous speed, but the unaccustomed turns wore him out, and he was taken from the water in a fainting condition. On the second occasion he did a good deal better. He did not win the distance championship there, although he took two sprinting titles. His trip went to Pennsylvania to take advantage of the fine coaching of Kistler, who believes him to be the greatest swimmer in the world. In the championship in Chicago last month he made a splendid showing. He will compete in different outdoor meets this summer.

"THE greatest hitting and fielding first baseman of the future," said Johnny Kling, "will be a left hander. Of this I am certain, and I get my cue from the work of Daubert of Brooklyn, who beat the Cubs in two games by perfect fielding stunts when the squeeze play would have won games from them last summer prior to my trade to Boston."

CONNIE MACK says that "Big Chief" Bender is the most dependable pitcher in the country. He is always ready and in condition to go in and pitch a first class article of ball. He is now in fine shape to help the Athletics win another pennant.

LYNN, April 18.—Two police inspectors went to Newburyport today to make the necessary arrangements with District Attorney Atwill to apply to Governor Foss for extradition papers for William A. Carthia May Arrive Tonight

STRIKERS AND POLICE CLASH

TITANIC SURVIVORS

May Reach New York About 11 O'Clock Tonight

The Cunard liner Carpathia bearing the survivors of the sunken steamer Titanic was making her way slowly toward New York this afternoon, groping through the fog, her wireless as silent as that of the stricken vessel, a small part of whose human cargo she carried. According to the best reckoning she will reach her dock here about 11 o'clock tonight.

Wireless messages bombarded the Carpathia all last night and this morning but with small results. A message from President Taft, asking for news of his aide, Major Butt, remained unanswered, and the indications are that no details of the disaster will be known until the Carpathia reaches port. Judging from the nature of the few messages from the few survivors aboard the Carpathia the inference is that most of them are unaware of the awful tragedy that took place aboard the Titanic after she was abandoned. Thus many wives are ignorant that their husbands have perished and are hoping that they were picked up by some passing liner which subsequently rendered aid similar to that of the Carpathia. In New York preparations have been made to receive the survivors when they land. Food, clothing, ambulances and other necessities and luxuries have been provided; the police protection will be ample and every measure will be taken to protect the unfortunates who have been under such a terrific strain. For the women of the steerage a committee of prominent New York women has been formed to house and take care of them until relatives abroad can be notified of their plight.

GIVE UP ALL HOPE THAT WIDENER IS ALIVE

PHILADELPHIA, April 18.—Peter A. B. Widener and others of the Widener family have abandoned hope that George D. Widener and his son, Harry E. Widener, are alive. With Mrs. George Widener they were passengers on the Titanic, having gone aboard to purchase a trousseau for Miss Eleanor Widener, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Widener, who is to be married in June.

The father and grandfather of the two missing men are prostrated with grief. Aside from the great wealth of his father, George D. Widener was very wealthy, estimates placing the value of his property at many millions of dollars. J. E. Widener, the youngest and only remaining son of P. A. B. Widener, went to New York today to meet his sister-in-law upon the arrival of the Carpathia.

THE NEWS GIVEN OUT WHEN IT WAS RECEIVED

BOSTON, April 18.—Manager John H. Thomas of the Boston office of the International Mercantile company said today:

"The first authentic news received by the company was in the form of a message from Captain Haddock of the Olympic relayed from the Carpathia via Cape Race to the effect that the Titanic had sunk and that the Carpathia was on the way to New York with about 775 survivors.

"The message was received by Mr. Franklin about 6:30 p. m. Monday evening and the news was immediately thereafter given to the press. It was also telephoned by A. R. Franklin to the manager of the Boston office and given to the reporters here about 20 minutes after seven o'clock.

"This was the first and only message received by the company with definite news that the ship had actually foundered. The only messages since received were those relayed by the Olympic and the Carpathia giving the names of the rescued passengers. These messages continued until the Carpathia last communication with the Olympic Tuesday evening and none have since been received.

STRIKERS IN RIOT

Attacked Police With Stones and Broke Windows of Hamilton Mills

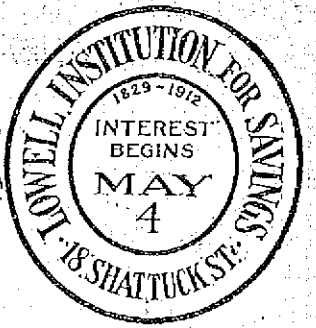

As a result of a riot which broke out at the Hamilton mill early this morning, four police officers were injured and five arrests were made. Special Officer John J. Briggs of the Hamilton mill narrowly escaped with his life, while a score of windows in the latter mill were broken from flying stones and bricks thrown by the strikers. At one time the crowd became so threatening that a shot had to be fired in the air in order to disperse the disturbers. Police reinforcements were called for and in a short time, however, the infuriated crowd was quieted down and the prisoners were sent to the police station, while the wounded officers were receiving treatment.

TO THE PUBLIC

The "full crew" bill, so called, which will require the railroads to employ an UN-NECESSARY brakeman on many freight trains, is being pushed through the legislature with all the power of the organized trainmen. THIS BILL will cost the railroads approximately $500,000.00 PER ANNUM, and if extended to the entire New England Railroad system, will cost over $1,000,000.00 per annum. The RAILROAD COMMISSION, in a report dated September 23, 1908, HAS DECIDED that this EXTRA BRAKEMAN IS NOT NEEDED FOR THE SAFETY OR CONVENIENCE OF THE PUBLIC OR FOR THE SAFETY OF THE EMPLOYEES THEMSELVES.

At present such a number of brakemen is employed as the railroad officials, with the approval of the Railroad Commission, deem sufficient. NO ACCIDENT has ever taken place which can be fairly attributed to the absence of an extra brakeman, or which WOULD HAVE BEEN AVERTED BY the presence of an EXTRA BRAKEMAN. AUTOMATIC COUPLERS, AUTOMATIC BRAKES and BLOCK SIGNALS introduced by the railroads at the cost of many millions of dollars, HAVE CHANGED THE DUTIES OF FREIGHT BRAKEMEN materially in the last ten years since this bill was first introduced. If the railroads are compelled, against the judgment of their officials and of the Railroad Commission, to employ unnecessary men, THE PUBLIC MUST EXPECT TO PAY THE BILL IN INCREASED RATES. There is no other source of income. THE PUBLIC EXPECTS ELECTRIFICATION, TUNNELS, IMPROVEMENTS IN SERVICE AND EQUIPMENT, at a cost of scores of millions of dollars. IS IT WILLING TO PAY FOR UNNECESSARY FREIGHT BRAKEMEN, whose employment organized railroad employees alone demand?

If this bill is passed this year, what will prevent another bill being introduced next year commanding the employment of extra engineers, firemen, station men, conductors, ticket takers, section men or motor men? WHERE IS THIS TO STOP?

DOES THE PUBLIC who in the end must pay the bill DESIRE that the railroads employ unnecessary labor and THAT IMPROVEMENTS FOR THE GENERAL GOOD BE HALTED? We do not believe so and we ask you to advise your Representatives and Senators accordingly.

THE FIGHTING HEAD

Of the Mexican Revolution is a Large Man

MEXICO CITY, April 18.—While most of the other military personages of the two revolutions have permitted their personalities, views and daily movements to become subject matter for the pencils and typewriters of the correspondents with considerable freedom, the most interesting figure of them all at the present moment is at the same time one of the least known either in Mexico or out. That is Pascual Orozco, the fighting head of the present revolution as well as that of a year ago.

Orozco is a lean, angular man whose personality is redolent of the camp and the hills and not at all of the council chamber of state nor of the drawing room. Outside his own particular circle there are not many who know even how old he is. It is a moral certainty that he can "hog-tie" a steer quickly and artistically, that he can throw a diamond hitch up a pack animal and that when he speaks he is in the habit of receiving respectful attention. For a Mexican he is a large man. A life in the deserts and mountains of the north has tanned him with a parchment finish and has bequeathed him the loose figure that looks a good deal better on horseback than on the ground. His hair and mustache are black and the latter droops from unrestrained habit. His photographs show him, slightly stooped and looking straight at the camera as if more interested in it than in the results of the snap-shot.

What he thinks, what he intends to do become apparent chiefly in his actions. Not that he has the reputation of being morose or silent, for his men seem to think him an ideal leader; but he has never courted publicity in any of his campaigns. He had been fighting in the Madero revolution last year several months before the reporters found out what his name was and began putting him in the news. The capture of Juarez early in May, 1911, less than a year ago, brought him into public view. President Madero had been busy and conspicuous with his organization of a provisional government whose ramifications extended all the way from Washington to the interior of his own country; but Orozco had been doing most of the fighting.

Twice since then Orozco has been in Mexico City. He came first to personally escort President Madero to the palace on the day of his inauguration in September. He came again quietly last February on personal business with the government.

In a period of a little over a year Pascual Orozco has removed himself from his rather humble station of being the trusty man who could be given the responsibility of conveying a pack-train of valuable ore through the mountains to Chihuahua city, to a position where he expects to make crummake presidents. So far as known there are no heraldic symbols of Spanish nobility anywhere up to Orozco family tree. Men who used to know him in Chihuahua when, with a revolver and rifle, he took charge of his own pack-train and delivered ore through a country where his main business was to watch out for and keep off bandits in Chihuahua, say that in those days he had difficulty in reading anything that was not set in clear type. But he prospered in a material way and was far from being poor when he took up the revolutionary cause. His claim against the Madero government for personal service and expense incurred by himself and father, who is now a colonel under his command, amounted to $50,000 gold. The assertion that only half that amount was allowed has been reported to have done much to wean him away from the Madero interests.

It is probable that a feeling that he himself "made" Madero, and that he has not been pleased with his own handiwork, is responsible for his present revolutionary activity. He has evidently come to the conclusion that his own ideas on important subjects are about as sound as anybody else's and he has thus far kept himself in a relation to the revolution where his ideas will have to be considered in the event of a successful outcome.

He has developed rapidly as a factor in Mexican revolutionary politics and it is the very possibility that his development is yet incomplete that makes his personality particularly interesting. He has made his revolution so substantial an affair that it is hard to believe that he, himself, will be obliterated, even though the movement may be suppressed. He is a young man with an undoubted ability for leadership, and with the taste of authority he has enjoyed it is not likely that he will permit himself to be reduced to private life even if he should be persuaded to compromise with the government upon political differences.

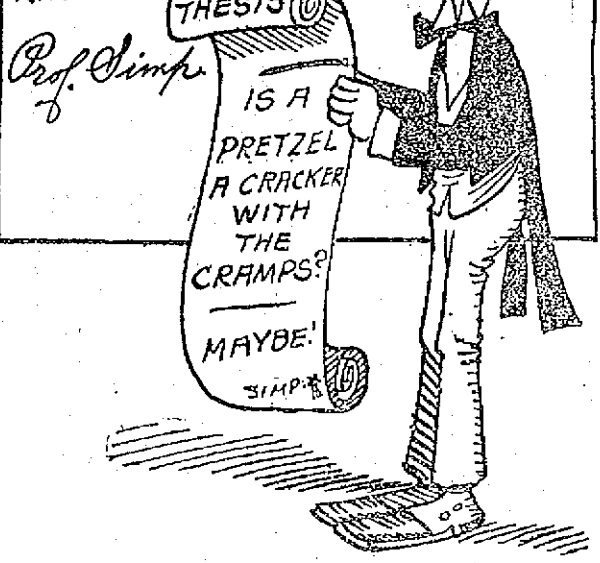

Opposition Party

Members of the opposition party in the Mexican congress have started a movement to abolish the office of vice-president, their main object being to oust Pascual Orozco, whom they do not like. This opposition includes some of the people who made Madero president and it is likely that the effort to change the constitution will cause considerable strife.

But there is another aspect of the case. The office was created at the time the New York financial interests furnished money for the nationalization of the Mexican railways, there not having been previously a vice-presidency. The idea was to give an in-mediate succession at the head of the government in the event the president died or was suddenly removed. The interests which really created the office have not yet been heard from and may prove a very effective source of support to the Madero government in saving Pino Suarez to the administration.

The Student Element

As in some other countries the student element of Mexico is allotted more or less importance of a political character. Their views are published in the newspapers as, sometimes, are the reports of their riots and other manifestations. They are a select body of young men from various universities and cabinet officers of a later day.

"They are now busy supporting the 'constitutional government,' welcoming home former President de la Barra and in many other ways, not all being entirely consistent; but among other things they have formed a military corps for home guard duty. A cadet from Chapultepec is in command. On one of the principal residence streets every evening they may be seen in the midst of military evolutions and setting up drills.

Running is one of the disagreeable features of this performance. "Forward," shouts the officer and the corps breaks into a run to the end of the block with a quick "right about" and back. They arrive at the starting point breathless and, as one man, reach for their canteens, extract handkerchiefs and, alternately elevating their feet, carefully brush the dust from the immaculate shirt which, above all else, must be maintained inviolate. Then they resume mixed discussions of bull-fights and politics.

THE ANNIVERSARY

Of Post 185 G. A. R. Observed

Post 185, Grand Army of the Republic, observed the 26th anniversary of its organization last night at the headquarters in Central street. There was a large attendance of members and invited friends. A meeting was held during the early part of the evening and later addresses were heard.

Commander J. H. Caverley occupied the chair and the speakers were James O'Sullivan, Rev. Arthur Bonner, Ph. D., Rev. A. Victor Blagow, Rev. B. H. Harris and Past Commander Frank S. Pevey. Musical selections were given by Miss Ethel McGregor.

The list of charter members present follows: Past Commander Frank R. Peabody, Past Commander A. A. Davis, Past Commander Frank S. Pevey, Past Commander George L. Adams, William A. Arnold and R. L. Nutting. Other members present were: Past Commander Augustus Hovey, George E. Bryant, Adjutant Benjamin S. Clough, Senior Vice Commander T. F. Gardner, G. W. Perrin, Thomas Smith, Marshal Hayden, Gen. B. Graves, Oscar Gibbs and Martin Bassett.

Among the members present, whose career has been a striking one, was Thos. Smith of East Chelmsford, who is a survivor of the campaigns waged by John Brown in Kansas, prior to the Civil war. Mr. Smith, who is a native of Goffstown, N. H., with 41 others, left his native town in 1856, intending to go to Kansas to settle. Mr. Smith had 160 acres of land, which he quickly disposed of. About this time, John Brown, with his followers, appeared. The Goffstown boys were strong abolitionists and it was no hard matter to interest them in the cause espoused by Brown. Mr. Smith fought with the Brown forces, under "Jim" Lane in the northern part of Kansas, and was at the battle of Black Jack, where Brown won a decisive victory. During the Civil war he served with the 15th Massachusetts battery.

IN THE CHURCHES

FATHERS OF THE CHURCH ENTERTAINED BY MOTHERS' CLUB.

The vestry rooms of the First Congregational church were the scene last night of a pleasant gathering, the event being the second annual dinner to the fathers of the church by the Mothers' club of the church. The tables were prettily decorated and over 100 sat down to dinner. Mrs. John Osgood acted as hostess and introduced Mrs. George Heath, who responded to the toast, "The Husband." Representative Otto Butler responded to the toast, "Our Wives and Mothers." Rev. E. Victor Blagow spoke on "Our Children." Master Clarence Arthur Bartlett paid a beautiful tribute to "Our Mothers."

A letter from Rev. Benj. A. Willmott, the former pastor of the church, was read and Mr. Cyrus A. Durkin gave a little talk on "What Is Worth While in the Schools."

Miss Mildred McKnight gave a reading. Mr. William Garnet sang a song and there was a duet by Miss Bernice Staples and Miss Winifred Goggins.

The waitresses were the following young ladies of the church: Misses Ola Nichols, Velma Nichols, Winifred Goggins, Vera Morton, Annie Fletcher, Bernice Staples and Mildred McKnight.

The committee in charge of the dinner was composed of the executive committee of the Mothers' club, as follows: Mrs. John Osgood, Mrs. P. S. Fulton, Mrs. Otto W. Butler, Mrs. Geo. Heath, Mrs. C. W. Stoughton, Mrs. Arthur Bartlett, Mrs. C. A. Goggins and Mrs. Frank Hoyt. They were assisted by the following members of the club: Mrs. H. H. Bean, Mrs. G. Paulmer, Mrs. E. E. McKnight, Mrs. W. H. Means, Mrs. C. J. Leathers, Mrs. Alice Leathers, and Mrs. Charles Willis.

BUILDERS' BANQUET

Speeches by Mayor O'Donnell and Others---Sec'y Weaver's Report

The New American hotel was the scene of a pretty gathering last night when the members of the Builders' exchange observed the 24th anniversary of their organization. The affair consisted of a banquet and speeches by Mayor O'Donnell, Supt. Welch of the police department and James F. Sawyer, clerk of the police court. An orchestra was in attendance and supplied music during the feast.

At 4 o'clock in the afternoon the members held their annual business meeting and elected officers for the ensuing year with the following result: Stupple, vice president; Alvah H. Weaver, secretary; John F. Dwyer, Nelson D. Keables, John J. O'Connor, William H. Penn, Joseph T. Thomas and Fred P. Vinal, directors. Secretary Weaver submitted his report for the past year and also the list of members of the exchange.

The toastmaster at the banquet was Mr. Patrick Conlon, who after extending his greetings to the members of the organization and their friends introduced as the first speaker, His Honor Mayor James E. O'Donnell.

Mayor O'Donnell His Honor, Mayor O'Donnell was cordially received. He delivered a very lengthy address dealing with the administration of the new charter and the various municipal departments.

In speaking of the charter His Honor said: "One hears from time to time considerable adverse criticism, but in every case investigation shows that the criticism is not against the new charter from men who were honestly opposed to it before its adoption. Nothing is said adversely of the charter, itself, but the criticism is directed against the men who have been elected to carry out its provisions, who are doing their best to live up to it rigidly. That criticism gives the members but little concern, for it comes from disappointed politicians and office seekers who will not see anything of merit in the present administration, and we all know that 'there's none so blind as he who will not see.' This is an opportune time, when the assessors are doing their spring work, to mention some of the criticisms. Much has been heard of the unnecessary clerks at city hall, the high wages paid, etc., together with a loud demand that the assessors go out and get more revenue for the city. The city of Lowell is a great corporation in which each citizen, rich or poor, is a stockholder; and the municipal council, the directors. It is the duty of each citizen to conduct his affairs with the city with the same spirit of honesty and fairness that he demands from the officials representing him at city hall. But does he do it? Each year the assessors send out lists to men of personal property and large incomes, requiring a sworn return of each for taxation. What do they send back? Gentlemen, you would be surprised, surprise isn't the word, you would be astounded to learn the names of some of the men who swear that the income from their profession, trade or employment is not over $2000 a year, the sum exempted by law, and who swear with equal solemnity as to the diminutive amount of their personal estates. And yet some of these pharisees deplore conditions at city hall, its extravagances and its high taxes, and rant about civic pride. Another critic is the business man who thinks he is being taxed too much, and that money is being spent recklessly. The same man charges the long price on every dollar's worth he sells the city, and isn't over particular as to quantity and quality. The fact that a majority of municipal council are on a crusade to get dollar for dollar in the purchase of material and supplies makes those particular members unpopular in certain quarters. The mayor, then, referred to the departments under his own special care. The police department he said at the present time is in the best shape it has been in for years. I have received many compliments for it. The growth of the city has demanded additional members and hence additional expenditures. Early in the year the municipal council was asked to increase the pay of the patrolmen twenty-five cents per day and irrespective of how much the members personally would have liked to grant that request, the money was not forthcoming at that time and it was necessary to refuse it. The patrolmen have accepted the situation gracefully though without abandoning hope and during the recent labor trouble their efficiency has been marked and stands out in striking contrast to a recent occurrence in a neighboring city. The matter of police pensions, an ever increasing expense to the city, was made law before I came into office and hence it must be respected by me as far as it keeps within the limits of the law. But one case has arisen which is illegal and I deemed it my duty to have it settled by the courts. I refer to the Moffatt pension case. "Discussing the subject of tuberculosis he said: "The question to be considered is how can it be reduced to the smallest figure without neglecting the victims of the disease, and that brings us to the question now before the municipal council, the establishment of a contagious disease hospital, which will include a tuberculosis department. At present these tuberculosis victims are cared for at Rutland, North Reading, Tewksbury and other cities and towns that have their own tuberculosis hospitals. By caring for all of these patients under one roof it is believed the cost of their maintenance can be reduced materially. A state law requires the city to own and maintain a contagious disease hospital but outside of the so-called small-pox hospital in Chelmsford street we are lax in our respect for the law. At present the agitation over the proposed hospital is waxing warm and without any apparent progress. The doctors disagree and when 'doctors disagree who shall decide.' The selfishness of human nature enters discordantly into the discussion and while all agree that there should be established a tuberculosis disease hospital, each wants it near somebody's close property and far removed from his own. With reference to the law and claims departments, I should have mentioned earlier, the fact that one great advantage under the new charter is the cooperation it affords between departments. Recently we read in the newspapers of the repairing of a fire engine at a reduced cost to the city by the water department. With the law and claims department this co-operation will be worked to good advantage. Heretofore, claims were awarded through a committee of the city council, and in some cases the necessity of getting the votes was greater than of proving a claim. Just before the close of last year a considerable amount of money was borrowed to pay certain claims for personal injuries. I can assure you such a thing will not be repeated while I am over the claims department. The state aid department is another source of unavoidable expense. The statutes provide for the expenditures for the old soldiers. In this department an experiment is being tried which it is hoped will prove successful. In the fire and water departments, the results of the new management were strikingly apparent in many instances, particularly in the collection of substantial sums, amounting to several thousands of dollars, from recalcitrant corporations, one of them a bill 11 years old which it had seemingly never been even attempted to collect, and others varying from one to 10 years since their original presentation. The saving of $2750 in three months in the supplies for the fire department and of the radical changes which had been made in its organization and running was also commented on. The street and sewer departments have already made their plans for the out-door season's work. There has been some talk to the effect that there would be little work this year because the commissioners had cut down the appropriations of these departments. Nothing could be further from the fact and there should be as much, if not more, work for laborers than heretofore. The street department with its loans for permanent street improvements will have more money to spend this year than in several years past, while the sewer department this year has been given $15,000 more than it spent last year. Following the mayor's address, Commissioner Donnelly was called upon for a vocal selection and instead of one he was heard in three. James F. Sawyer Mr. James F. Sawyer, clerk of the police court, was the next speaker and he dwelt at length on the vital incidents of the American revolution, his

and its high taxes, and rant about civic pride. Another critic is the business man who thinks he is being taxed too much, and that money is being spent recklessly. The same man charges the long price on every dollar's worth he sells the city, and isn't over particular as to quantity and quality. The fact that a majority of municipal council are on a crusade to get dollar for dollar in the purchase of material and supplies makes those particular members unpopular in certain quarters. At present the agitation over the proposed hospital is waxing warm and without any apparent progress. The doctors disagree and when 'doctors disagree who shall decide.' The selfishness of human nature enters discordantly into the discussion and while all agree that there should be established a tuberculosis disease hospital, each wants it near somebody's close property and far removed from his own. With reference to the law and claims departments, I should have mentioned earlier, the fact that one great advantage under the new charter is the cooperation it affords between departments. Recently we read in the newspapers of the repairing of a fire engine at a reduced cost to the city by the water department. With the law and claims department this co-operation will be worked to good advantage. Heretofore, claims were awarded through a committee of the city council, and in some cases the necessity of getting the votes was greater than of proving a claim. Just before the close of last year a considerable amount of money was borrowed to pay certain claims for personal injuries. I can assure you such a thing will not be repeated while I am over the claims department. The state aid department is another source of unavoidable expense. The statutes provide for the expenditures for the old soldiers. In this department an experiment is being tried which it is hoped will prove successful. In the fire and water departments, the results of the new management were strikingly apparent in many instances, particularly in the collection of substantial sums, amounting to several thousands of dollars, from recalcitrant corporations, one of them a bill 11 years old which it had seemingly never been even attempted to collect, and others varying from one to 10 years since their original presentation. The saving of $2750 in three months in the supplies for the fire department and of the radical changes which had been made in its organization and running was also commented on. The street and sewer departments have already made their plans for the out-door season's work. There has been some talk to the effect that there would be little work this year because the commissioners had cut down the appropriations of these departments. Nothing could be further from the fact and there should be as much, if not more, work for laborers than heretofore. The street department with its loans for permanent street improvements will have more money to spend this year than in several years past, while the sewer department this year has been given $15,000 more than it spent last year. Following the mayor's address, Commissioner Donnelly was called upon for a vocal selection and instead of one he was heard in three. James F. Sawyer Mr. James F. Sawyer, clerk of the police court, was the next speaker and he dwelt at length on the vital incidents of the American revolution, his

The incident was recalled when I chanced to sit across the table from the woman. "What was it about her that caused all that commotion? She wasn't handsome; she was lacking in form and feature. Yet she did seem marvelously fascinating. Her complexion must be the secret. Really, I've never beheld its equal. Venturing to pick up acquaintance, I learned the reason. "I know I'm not built for beauty," she confessed, "but I've tried to make the most of my one charm. I've learned that men adore make-ups and artificiality. STRIKERS IN RIOT

Although the strike is practically settled in all the other cotton mills of the city, the troubles at the Hamilton mill have not been remedied for the reason that the agent, Mr. Whittier, is said to have refused to meet a committee of his employees in accordance with the agreement he made last Saturday if the committee's story be true. The other mill agents have received their respective committees and have granted most of the concessions demanded by them. The committee of the Hamilton mill, according to their report, called at the office of that mill several times in order to get a conference with Agent Whittier, but in every instance he refused to meet them, saying he was too busy, or that he would see them after they had returned to work.

In accordance with this report the strike was still declared on at the Hamilton and this morning some 400 men and women formed the usual picket line in Jackson street and marched up and down the street several times, shouting and cheering and calling upon those who were going to work to join the ranks.

There were only a half dozen police officers in the vicinity as it was presumably believed the strike was over. The officers were in command of Sergt. Giroux and they were far from thinking a riot would be started, but still they were prepared for anything that would occur.

ARREST OF A MAN

STARTED THE TROUBLE

According to Sergt. Giroux the trouble at the Hamilton started when he tried to place a man under arrest for assault on an unknown person. Anthony Souza, a Portuguese, aged 30 years, it is alleged, got hold of a woman on the sidewalk and by force tried to have her join the ranks. The sergeant immediately placed him under arrest. At this moment a crowd of men went to the prisoner's assistance and tried to pull him away from the police. The latter pulled out his clubs but did not use them. The infuriated crowd then started throwing bricks and stones at the officers, turning their missiles on the windows of the mill, breaking about 15 panes of glass.

It was at that moment that the riot started. Special Officer Briggs attempted to place a man under arrest after, as he claimed, he saw him throw a stone at a mill window. The crowd which was then at the highest pitch of excitement hurled stones, bricks and sticks at the officers and surrounded Officer Briggs. The latter, however, held on to his man and it was then that he was struck over the left eye with a stone, causing a large wound which necessitated the treatment by a physician. The mob was so threatening at that moment, that a telephone message was sent to the station for help. In a few minutes the auto-patrol was on the scene of the riot with reinforcements, and according to witnesses of the trouble it arrived in the nick of time, for Officer Briggs was in the midst of the crowd who kept closing in on him, while the other officers were trying to force a way through with the aid of their clubs.

With the other police numbering about a dozen, the situation was cleared and the prisoners were marched to the box. Three more arrests were made on the way down, as people kept interfering all the time. Stones were again dashed through the air and in the rioting the following officers were wounded by missiles. Sergt. Giroux was struck on the left hand with a stone; Officer Ferris received a blow on the leg, while Officer W. H. Wilson received a bad gash over the right eye. When the officers reached the box at the corner of Appleton and South streets, the crowd again threatened to charge against them and the situation became so serious that Officer Ferris drew out his revolver and fired a shot into the air, this having a satisfactory result.

The prisoners were booked at the police station as follows: Anthony Souza, 30 years, residence, South street, assault on an unknown woman; Andrew Lehn, 18 years, residence, Pearl street, assault on an unknown person; Davidson street, assault on Sergt. Giroux; John L. Preira, Portuguese, 21 years, residence, South street, assault on an unknown person; Bernada Guidalis, Lithuanian, 28 years, residence, Howe street, assault on Officer Briggs; Manuel J. Izdro, Portuguese, 36 years, residence, Pearl street, assault on Officer W. H. Wilson.

ASSAULT IS CHARGED

AGAINST THE MEN ARRESTED

Five defendants who, it is alleged, participated in the riot in the vicinity of the Hamilton mills this morning were brought before Judge Pickman in police court this morning, but at the request of counsel for the defense the cases were continued.

Bernada Guidalis was charged with assault and battery on Special Officer John J. Briggs. The officer in question bore a cut over the left eye and also had covered with a handkerchief a bloodstained shirt. Owing to the nature of the assault the court held the man under $500 bonds for his appearance next Tuesday morning.

Andrew Lehn was charged with assault on an officer. It is alleged that he threw a brick or stone at Sergt. William Giroux. His case was continued until Wednesday, he being held under $100 bonds.

Antonio Souza was charged with assault and battery on an unknown person, a woman. He was arrested by Patrolmen Clark and Quinn. This case was also continued until Wednesday morning.

It is alleged that Manuel Izdro threw a piece of brick at Patrolman William H. Wilson and the man was subsequently placed under arrest by Patrolmen Wilson and Ferris. He entered a plea of not guilty, but the case did not come to trial. He was held under $100 bonds for his appearance Wednesday morning.

John L. Preira was charged with assault and battery on an unknown person and his case was continued until Tuesday morning, he being placed at $300.

ENTHUSIASTIC MEETING

PRESIDED OVER BY TRAUTMAN

The regular meeting of the I. W. W. was held this forenoon and was largely attended. The main topic of discussion was the alleged riot which occurred at the Hamilton mill this morning, and it was suggested this morning that if the agent of the Hamilton mill does not come to terms between now and tomorrow, that none of the operatives in any of the mills return to work on Monday or until the concessions asked for are granted by the officials of that mill.

The meeting was called to order at 10:30 o'clock by William Trautman and little business was transacted. Mr. Trautman announced that five of the strikers had been arrested this morning. The hall committee reported that the following meetings were held today: English and French between 2 and 4 o'clock; Portuguese between 4 and 6 o'clock; and Poles between 6 and 8 o'clock.

The shop committee met at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon at the Leather Workers' hall in Central street. The relief committee met this morning and they report there is more suffering in Lowell than was anticipated. The emergency cases will be taken care of and relief will be given on Saturday morning at 3 o'clock. The bread checks will be continued at next week to the members of the I. W. W. only, and all will have to show membership cards in order to receive aid.

The Leather Workers have given $100 in relief checks and the National Textile Workers have sent their check for $200. The finance committee is today in New Bedford and Lawrence soliciting funds for the relief of the Lowell strikers.

The committee appointed to interview Agent Whittier of the Hamilton mill reported going there yesterday afternoon and after waiting a half hour, was told the agent would not come to the mill. At this point Dr. Demopoulos suggested that if the Hamilton agent does not grant the concessions demanded, that the strike be kept on at all the mills. He said these agents co-operate and it is up to the I. W. W. members to co-operate and not return to work until the grievances are settled in all the mills. However, it was decided to wait until tomorrow as it is believed the agent will see the committee today.

Mr. Trautman suggested on the other hand that the employees of the various mills return to work Monday and if there is no settlement in the Hamilton, that that mill remain on strike. This will be taken up tomorrow however and the question will be decided upon by the entire body of strikers.

In closing the meeting Mr. Trautman addressed the gathering and said all he wanted of the strikers was to get together with the fellows who are trying to start up riots, etc., in order to demoralize the organization. He said he felt confident the agent of the Hamilton mill would come to terms before tomorrow, and that everything would be settled before Monday. He urged the members of the organization to turn out in large numbers tomorrow at the mass meeting which will be held in the afternoon on the South common, and also in the parade to be held Saturday afternoon. If the weather is inclement tomorrow, the affair will be postponed till Saturday. He closed by saying that it depended on the members of the organization and not on the so-called leaders to maintain what they had gained in this strike, and also to keep up the fight until the operatives are paid at least $3 per day.

THE FOREIGNERS

Not Leaving City in Such Large Numbers

There has been a very noticeable decrease in the number of foreigners leaving this city since last Saturday, the time when the mill officials announced that the mills would open next Monday and that they will grant a 10 per cent. increase in wages. From that time up to today none has left here and the business at the depot is now just about normal. About every day since the strike started great numbers of the local strikers have left Lowell for other parts.

During that time several parties of strikers were taken from this city to other places at the expense of some of our town mills. In all there were over 100 who went to the mills in New Hampshire and about as many went to Connecticut, while more went to New Bedford and Fall River. A great many left for the old country and others went out west. Many of the French people journeyed to Canada. The exodus from Lowell was large and many of those who left will remain away, particularly those going to their home countries.

During the time that the people were going from Lowell they of course carried a great amount of baggage. This made considerable work for the baggage men at the local depot, but the men proved equal to the task and managed everything in a most commendable manner.

CARDINAL URGES STRINGENT RULES

WASHINGTON, April 18.—In commenting upon the sinking of the Titanic here yesterday, Cardinal O'Connell offered the opinion that stringent regulations should be adopted governing the trans-Atlantic liners for the protection of passengers against similar accidents.

The cardinal, who is in Washington to attend a series of annual meetings at the Catholic university, expressed deep sympathy for the relatives and friends of those who lost their lives. He declared that the disaster, in its magnitude, had shocked the entire world.

"But it is a time," said His Eminence, "when men should not merely give themselves up to grief. Immediate steps should be taken to provide by law certain regulations looking to the safety of those who trust their lives to the companies controlling travel across the ocean."

"Thousands of Americans are constantly crossing and recrossing the ocean and their lives should not be endangered or sacrificed to the greed of companies or to the desire to create new records for ocean travel."

"The world would be spared tremendous shocks such as the present one if a safer policy in ocean travel were adopted."

The cardinal remarked that he almost invariably takes the southern route when traveling to Europe and it obliged to sail over the northern course, he makes sure of taking passage by a line whose boats take no chance when there is even the slightest danger.

PATRIOTS DAY

Quiet Observance Here Tomorrow

Tomorrow, Patriots day, is a legal holiday to commemorate the historic battles of Concord and Lexington, when the patriotic Americans first showed their colors to the British. There will be no formal observance of the day by the citizens of Lowell as last year, but a list of events will be run off in this city.

A number of people as is customary every year will journey to Lexington where the opening scenes of the revolutionary war were laid, while others more numerous probably will attend the first base ball game by the Lowell team of the New England League. The game will be held in the forenoon against the Lawrence team, while in the afternoon both teams will again meet at Lawrence.

The program of amusements for tomorrow is as follows:

Sports
N. E. League baseball—Lowell vs. Lawrence at Spalding park, 10 a. m.; Lowell vs. Lawrence at Glen Forest, 2:30 p. m.
Y. M. C. I. vs. Manhattan baseball club, at Bunting cricket club grounds, South Lowell, 2:30 p. m.
Twenty mile military hike, Waltham to Lowell, open to teams representing companies of the state militia (National guard). Start at 11 a. m. Finish at Lowell armory, between 2 and 4.

German school athletic meet, South common, under the auspices of the Y. M. C. A., 10 a. m.
South Ends vs. Old Timers (baseball), South common.
Track meet, Riverside park, 10 o'clock, between the Sacred Hearts and Centralvilles.

Marathon race from Ashland to B. A. club in Boston. Three Lowell men will take part in the race, Messrs. Christie, Teddy and Goddard.

Theatres
Opera House—"The Confession," matinee and night.
Keith's Theatre—Vaudeville, matinee and night.

Marion Square Theatre—Stock company, vaudeville, motion pictures, continuous from 1 to 10:30.
Academy of Music—Stock company, vaudeville, motion pictures, matinee and night.

Vesper Theatre—Motion pictures and illustrated songs, 1 to 10:30.
Scenic Theatre—Motion pictures and illustrated songs, 1 to 10:30.

Other Events

Banquet of Sixth Massachusetts regiment at Memorial hall.
Citizens Americans club to observe 11th anniversary at St. Joseph's hall in the evening.

Whist and military tournament at St. Joseph's college by Garde Frontaine.

CITY PLANNING

Conference to be Held in Boston

The fourth annual conference city planning will be held in Boston May 27, 28 and 29 and Mayor Fitzgerald has sent an invitation to Mayor O'Donnell of this city urging him to attend. In his letter to Mayor O'Donnell the mayor of Boston states:

Legislation embracing the city planning idea is either on the statute books or is being considered by the most progressive American communities. The city planning conference has furnished an admirable opportunity for the recording progress of city planning in the experience of American cities. The great value of the conference is in the exchange of ideas by city engineers, architects, landscape architects, park commissioners and students of sociological problems.

The program this year emphasizes the practical side of city affairs. One session will be devoted to studying given areas with a view to showing what city planning has done or could do for them. Another session will handle the vital session, "How to pay the bills of city planning," and the discussions and the papers will consider the more equitable distribution of the expense of public improvements.

Naturalization Session
Clerk Dillingham of the superior court will come to Lowell within two weeks. It was stated today, for the purpose of signing naturalization papers for persons desirous of becoming citizens.

Building Permits
A building permit addressed to the Daniel Gage estate has been issued at the office of the inspector of buildings at city hall for a stable at 613 Pay-lucket street. The stable will be 34 by 62 feet with an ell 20 by 12 feet, two stories, and the estimated cost is $2500.

Oscar W. Brown has been granted a permit for the erection of a dwelling at 35 Livingston avenue. The building will be two and one-half stories in height, 26 by 27 feet, with an ell 6 by 14 feet and the estimated cost is $2600.

GREAT OUTING

TO BE HELD BY STREET RAILWAY EMPLOYEES

Plans are underway for a monster outing to be held in Newburyport after Labor day by the employees of the Lawrence, Haverhill and Lowell street railway companies. In each city committees have been appointed to have charge of the affair. The Lowell men held a meeting and appointed Commissioners C. Griffin and William Mooney to have charge of the arrangements for the local division. At the present time the plans are to have a tournament of games between the three divisions. There will also be a dinner served and other enjoyments will be indulged in. The Lowell men are organizing a baseball team and plan to hold many practice games before the time of the outing.

ONE-HALF BOTTLE OF THE GREAT KIDNEY REMEDY ACCOMPLISHES WONDERS

When I sent for a simple bottle of Swamp-Root, I was in great distress day and night. Before I received sample by mail, I went to our best doctor (and he is second to none in this vicinity) and told him how I felt. He put me up a bottle of medicine. I was about a week taking the medicine, but was no better than when I began. I then began your sample bottle and before I got through with it, I felt a change. The swelling sensation did not bother only a few times in the middle of the day. I would not have believed such a small quantity would have done so much, but before it was gone I learned that our druggist kept Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root and so got a large bottle for one-dollar but actually worth one hundred dollars. I only took one large tablespoonful three times a day and before I had taken one-half bottle I was all right and have been since. Gratefully yours, GEORGE S. CHAMPLIN, Asaway, R. I.

Annual Event of Ladies' Aid of St. Patrick's Parish

The annual Easter carnival of the Ladies' Aid society of St. Patrick's parish at Associate hall last evening proved to be a great success. The attendance was large and the entertainment was highly enjoyed by all present.

The proceeds of the carnival are used for charity. The Colonial minstrel under the direction of Miss Alice Gilligan was a pretty feature and all the young people who took part did exceedingly well. They were as follows: Andrew Barrett, Esther Killoy, Leroy Farrell, Grace Barrett, James Keefe, Marcella Courtney, James O'Sullivan, Alice Saunders.

The music by Sheehan's orchestra was highly appreciated throughout the evening. The next number on the program was a clever sketch entitled "The District School," the cast of characters being as follows: Teacher, Miss Patricia Prim Hamman; pupils, Mable Connors, Carl Garvey, Venus Crayter, Isadore Harrington, Charity Doyle, Duke Higgins, Gladys Holland, Reginald Hagan, Mary Ann Lambert, Mugsy Shugrue, Fellecia Lynch, Alex Slattery, Viola Quinn, Lionel Sullivan, Cleopatra Slattery, Ethelbert Tobin, Blossom Sullivan, Marmaduke Wheel-ton; school committee, Cyrus Rourke, Ben Callahan, Hiram Quinn; Miss Julia C. Slattery, accompanist.

General dancing began before 10 o'clock and continued to midnight, with music being provided by Sheehan's Pawtucket orchestra.

The tables and booths about the hall were all handsomely decorated and they did a thriving business.

The officers of the society are: Miss Josephine Murphy, president; Mrs. D. F. Sullivan, vice president; Miss Helena M. O'Sullivan, secretary; Rev. John J. McHugh, treasurer and spiritual director.

The officers of the evening and those who had charge of the tables were: Dr. P. J. Bagley, general manager; John J. Sullivan, assist. gen. manager; Jeremiah O'Sullivan, Esq., floor director; Dr. John H. Donovan, assist. floor director; Dr. P. J. McEgan and Dr. Harold B. Plunkett, chief aids; Rev. John J. McHugh, chairman of reception committee.

THE LOWELL PITCHERS

Showed Up Well in Yesterday's Game With Providence

The Providence Grays of the International league were with us yesterday at Spaulding park. They came here to get some practice prior to opening their league season today. They got it too, and they had to go some. Despite the fact that Lowell is a Class D team our Grays made the Providence batters play hard all the time and the latter were forced to a victory, the score being 4 to 3.

In the Providence lineup Manager Fred Lake has a number of former big leaguers, and at times the latter displayed their experience by pulling off some very classy plays. The Lowell team played a great game and when one stops to think of the caliber of the men on the opposing team the exhibition that Lowell put up will be appreciated.

Present at the game was Steve Flannigan, former manager of the Brockton team who is now doing scout duty for the major league.

The Lowell pitchers showed up well in the first three innings. Zeller, who came in from the Milwaukee team in exchange for Flannigan, performed and he gave an excellent exhibition. He blanked the team for the time he pitched and only allowed one hit. Wolfgang went in for the next three and the visitors got four hits, but only scored one run. A feature of Wolfgang's work was striking out two men in the fourth inning with the bases crowded and the last man went out on three pitched balls. In the last trio of innings Maybom worked and though he only allowed two hits, an error and a base on balls netted three runs for the Providence team, and the game.

The hitting was pretty even, each team getting 7 bingles. As some of the fans on the first base side lines called to Manager Gray to give Miller a chance, the latter was sent to first in place of Wright. He is a lanky fellow and looks like a good one though he fell down on the first chance he got. The visitors showed up well and they are all big men. In the lineup were several, whom followers of the game have read about in the big show. One of these is Schmidt, who caught many a world's series game with the Detroit Tigers. He gave a fine account of himself and during the game exchanged greetings with the real "dopers" on the third base bleachers. He showed that he has considerable speed and speed was the feature of his entire team. At shortstop Rock showed great form. He showed that he is a very ready player. At second, who covered that position for the Chicago White Sox a few years ago, contributed several classy plays. There was no scoring until the sixth when the visitors sent one man over. In this inning, with one out Elston got a base on balls and stole second. At fanned. Giuseppe singled and Elston scored.

Each team got two runs in the seventh. For Providence, Rock went on first on four, one and took second on Schmidt's sacrifice. Harden got by on Miller's error. Tutwiler hit to Maybom who got Rock at third. Lathers hit to left and Harden and Tutwiler came home. In Lowell's half Magee got on through a boot by Atz, but was forced at second by Miller. Boutles and Nye came across with hits and Miller counted. Boutles and Nye came across with hits and Miller counted. Boutles scored on a wild pitch.

In the eighth inning Providence scored one which gave them the game. Elston slammed out a beaut of a three-bagger and scored on a squeeze.

Worked to perfection by Atz. In the latter part of the inning Pop Rensing made the longest hit of the game sending the ball to the extreme corner of left field. He got as far as third and scored when Magee grounded out to the initial sack. There was no more scoring.

ITALIAN SOCIETY

Held a Great Celebration
Last Night

The Society of Cristoforo Colombo, an association formed by prominent Italians of this city to honor the memory of the great discoverer and also to aid in the advancement of the people of that race in Lowell, rendered a beautiful and interesting entertainment last evening at its rooms in Middlebury street. The president, Domenico Lombardi, in the presence of his son, the society's organist, gave a very interesting address, which was a very enthusiastic one, and was attended by some 150 members of the society and their friends. Among the guests were a large number of American people, all of whom expressed the hope that the society would have a long and prosperous career.

The decorations about the hall were pretty. American and Italian flags were to be seen everywhere, while hanging above the orchestra were pictures of Columbus and of the present ruler of Italy, King Victor Emmanuel and Queen Elena.

The Society of Cristoforo Colombo of Lowell, which, being of a fraternal nature, provides sick and death benefits, will work along the same line as do the societies of the same name in the different large cities of the United States. It will strive to aid its members as far as may be possible in everything that has to do with their welfare and it will lose no opportunity of adding to the interest which is now being awakened in the noble life of him from whom it takes its name.

The most pleasing part of the evening's entertainment was the music. The Italian people, as everyone knows, are as a rule the greatest musicians in the world and Mr. Lombardi's orchestra, which furnished the music of the evening, lived up to the tradition of the race in that respect. Mr. Lombardi is a talented violinist and harpist, while his son Eduardo Di-topic being mainly on the winter campaign of 1911-12, which culminated in the battle of Trenton. The speaker developed his subject in a very interesting manner and finished his remarks by picturing the scene in congress when Washington resigned his command.

Secretary Weaver's Report
Secretary Weaver was then called upon to read his report for the year in which he referred to the Workingmen's Compensation act which was passed by the legislature. He also said the members of the exchange continue to receive a majority of the contracts and sub-contracts of the building being planned and erected in the various sections of the city. He also criticized the lack of interest in the exchange that some of the members have.

The average monthly attendance during 1911 and 1912 of the exchange has been 221, the average daily attendance 8, and the total attendance for the year 1912, which was a little less than the previous year, although the attendance the last month has greatly increased. Joseph T. Thomas was the only member admitted the past year and two members have resigned, making a total of forty-four members.

The following is a list of firms and individuals who are members of the exchange:

Following this report Supt. Redmond Welch of the police department was introduced by Townmaster Conlon, who in his introductory remarks said he hoped the patrolmen would soon be rewarded for their efficient services by the increase in wages they so desire and earn. He paid a tribute to the department for the efficient manner in which the strike situation was handled.

The superintendent, who is a very interesting speaker, began his remarks by paying his respects to the element that came into our city recently from Lawrence flushed with victory, as double-dyed anarchists, pouring venom into the ears of the people of Lowell. He then explained the meaning of the word "vagrabond" and in order to make his remarks more explicit, he took the case of the four men who were arrested at the Middlesex street station and explained the methods used in order to get a complete history of these men.

He related several other police incidents of vital interest and by request told of the capture of the "eggman" in Appleton street.

Those present at the banquet were: Geo. H. Walker, Jas. Whittle, Wm. H. Derby, Percy E. Gilbert, Wm. F. Farrell, Frank L. Gordon, Fred E. Meloy, Frank M. Short, Chas. A. Morton, Guy Joyce, Royal S. MANY BALL PLAYERS
ARE ECCENTRIC

IT COBB always swings three bats as he walks to the plate. The fact that one bat is so much lighter after holding three is a truth, aside from the superstition of the thing.

Nap Lajoie always draws a line in the dirt of the batter's box before taking his position. He will not face the pitcher without this preliminary.

Barney Peltz must throw a curve ball just before starting to pitch. His last to the catcher when warming up between innings is always a curve.

Hubie Olding insists on the little mascot of the Athletics standing in a certain place when he is at bat.

Always before delivering the ball Russell Ford adjusts his cap.

After receiving the ball from the catcher Cobb usually jingles it several times before getting on the rubber.

Bill Donovan dislikes to strike out the first batter. He believes it the forerunner of bad luck.

Heine Peltz, when manager of the Colonels, was averse to having any pictures taken of his team. He believed it hoodooed the game.

Ovile Woodruff was broken hearted in case he saw a cross eyed colored man before the game.

Habib Robinson never touches the plate with his bat, but he says he is not superstitious.

Bill Armour, when watching a game in which one of his pitchers is going well, waves warm if some curious spectator asks how many hits have been made off the pitcher. Bill says such a question invariably brings on an avalanche of bingles in the next inning.

CRACK CREWS HAVE ENTERED FOR OLYMPIAD

THE crew races in connection with the Olympic games to be held at Stockholm during July are attracting for more attention throughout Europe than is the case in this country. England is likely to be represented by both eights and fours, including the famous Thames Rowing club four, which won the Stewards' cup at Henley last summer. This combination, which consists of Bruce Logan, stroke; C. G. Rought, 3; K. Vernon, 2, and J. Beresford, bow, it is understood, is willing to make the trip if selected. It is believed that the rowing conditions are particularly favorable to the English style and form.

The course to be used for the regatta will be charted on a small lake about a mile and a half long. The course is dead straight for 1,500 out of 2,000 meters. It is dead water and sheltered from the wind with a road and a path, along either of which it is possible to follow the races from start to finish. The course is only a few minutes' ride from the center of town.

DETROIT experts claim that Oscar Stan'ge of the Tigers is the fastest and best throwing catcher in the American league. They declare that if he were a little more fiery he would be the greatest in the business.

Return Ball Kept Flaherty In Baseball

"PAT FLAHERTY'S return ball," says Heine Peltz, "kept him in fast company a long time after he had nothing else. He shot one over and, if you missed it the catcher would fairly bulge the ball back to Pat, who would instantly send it across before you regained your balance from the previous swing."

"One time Pat threw one to John Kling. John spun round like a top, and Pat immediately fired in his return ball. Kling was still revolving, and coming around for the fourth time, his bat met the ball and belted it into the deep field for three bases. That blow almost broke Pat's heart and really caused him to think about retiring."

TOO MUCH SPEED IS
CAMPBELL'S ONLY FAULT

VIN CAMPBELL, who was traded by the Pirates to Boston for Mike Donlin, literally ran himself out of the Pittsburgh club. At least such is the opinion of Mordcael Brown.

Campbell has speed, lots of speed. In the outfield his speed was a menace, and at times he had Fred Clarke in fear of his life. Ordinarily, when a ball is hit into the doubtful territory between two outfielders one of them will stop, sell to the other and let him have it. Not so Campbell.

Many times his tremendous speed covering ability allowed him to snatch a ball almost from Clarke's hands, and the Pirate manager never set himself to catch a fly without having a feeling in the back of his neck that Campbell, heedless of everything but the ball, was rushing down on him. He tried to break Vin of the habit, but he was unbreakable. As a result Clarke was not sorry to get rid of the youngster for steady, experienced Mike Donlin.

At last Campbell's speed, according to Brown, was also a detriment. The moment he faced the pitcher he was, in his mind, starting for first. He never put his whole thought on hitting the ball, but was thinking of his start. As a result he never truly hit up to his possibilities, and for all he is younger than Donlin, was of far less use than the ex-Giant is expected to be.

TRYOUT FOR PENTATHLON AND DECATHLON IN MAY

TRYOUTS for the Olympic Pentathlon and Decathlon competitions will be held in three sections of the country in order to give the athletes of the Pacific coast, central west and east an opportunity of competing.

The team selection committee will be greatly influenced in the selection of the men for these events by the performances of those competing in the tryouts. These tryouts, however, will be merely guides, and the committee may select an athlete who was unable to compete in these tryouts if in the opinion of the committee his ability warrants it. The committee is not bound to select for the team every or any athlete who wins or competes in these tryouts.

The Pentathlon, the tryouts for which will be held May 18, comprise the running broad jump, throwing the javelin (with the javelin held in the middle), best hand; 200 meters flat, throwing the discus, best hand; 1,500 meters flat.

The Decathlon tryouts will take place May 24 and 25. This event is made up of 100 meters flat, running broad jump, putting the weight, best hand; running high jump, 400 meters flat, hurdle race, 110 meters, throwing the discus, best hand; pole jump, throwing the javelin (with the javelin held in the middle), best hand; 1,500 meters flat.

Clarke Says Wagner Will Make Good Captain

ALTHOUGH he has been in the major leagues over a score of years, this season for the first time we will have the pleasure of seeing Hans Wagner, Pittsburgh's great shortstop, in the role of captain. Manager Clarke says he will make a good one.

KEELER TELLS OF HARDEST
PITCHERS FOR HIM TO HIT

"I FOUND during the long time that I was in the big leagues that Amos Rusie and Ed Walsh were the hardest pitchers for me to hit," said Willie Keeler recently. "I have gone through a season without striking out, and Rusie and Walsh have the distinction of making me fan twice in one game. Rusie did the trick when I was with the Baltimore club back in 1904."

"Amos could shoot them over. He had more speed on his curve ball than some of the present day pitchers have on their fast one. When the big fellow, who was with the Giants, was going right he was a wonder. How he could buzz them over the plate! I know for a fact that when he was going good it was not necessary for him to pitch any curves. That fast one always had a beautiful hop on it and it was impossible to connect with it."

"Ed Walsh was another great one with that 'spitball' of his. I have seen all kinds of wet balls, but Walsh has one that takes the cake. I always thought Jack Chesbro had about the best I ever saw until I saw Walsh. Ed's breaks better than any I have ever faced. Some days a 'spitball' pitcher hasn't the break on his delivery that he has on others. But when Walsh is good he is a great pitcher. He may not be effective without the 'spitball,' but they tell me that he still has the 'spitball' going as good as ever."

BASEBALL GLEANINGS
HOT OFF THE BAT

EDDIE EVERS, brother of the famous Johnny Evers of the Chicago Nationals, has entered professional baseball and signed up with the Wilkesbarre team of the New York State league.

The Pittsburgh team will do the most traveling of any of the sixteen major league clubs during the 1912 season. Allowing twenty-five men on each trip, Barney Dreyfuss will have to buy 346,875 miles of transportation.

One of the big questions marks hanging over the Boston Americans is, Will Buck O'Brien make good? If he does, Jim McAlleer may be piloting a pennant contender by July 4.

A ball player is as toughy on the age question as a woman. Old timers who have played professional ball for twenty or twenty-five years generally claim to be about thirty-five years old. A ball player willing to own up to being forty has rarely been heard of.

In little Olaf Hendrickson the Boston Americans seem to have a very promising youngster. While Hendrickson is better at the bat than the average and is a grand fielder, he is best on the paths. He beat out four infield hits in Detroit last season. One was hit to Dony Bush and fielded cleanly, but the little Canton man beat it out.

Minor Leaguer Holds Unique Record

IT is not unusual for a big league player to remain with the same team for eight, nine, ten or eleven years, but instances of a minor leaguer sticking to the same club for eleven seasons are limited to one, just one. Doc Wiseman, the Nashville outfielder, is the possessor of this unique record.

Wiseman started in Nashville in 1900 and has remained there ever since, being given his release recently.

It is doubtful if Wiseman's record will ever be duplicated, for it is more than unusual to find a player who for eleven years is not good enough to go higher and yet is too good to go back. Ten seasons, anyway, without showing signs of deterioration.

The records show that in the eleven years Wiseman was in 1,401 games, of which the largest number played in a single season was 142 each in 1907 and 1910. In only one year, the first, did he fail to take part in less than 100 games, 56 being the total then. Doc had a reputation for his regularity, missing a game only through injuries.

He went to bat some 3,000 times. The figures as to the exact number cannot be had, as the "bat bats" in 1902 are omitted by the guide. However, in ten seasons he was up exactly 4,721 times. The year 1902 excepted, the runs made by him total 651, the largest number of which were made in 1901, when he crossed the plate ninety-one times. Fifty-one, in 1906, were the lowest he scored in a single season.

AMERICA'S PROSPECTS IN OLYMPIC GAMES

By TOMMY CLARK.

THERE appears to be considerable confidence among the amateur athletes in England that the British team is going to make a big record in the Olympic games next summer in Sweden, basing their hopes upon the Oxford and Cambridge runners to a great extent, with an anchor to windward in sprinters from the provinces. One of their chief hopes rests with McMillan of Cambridge for the sprints, and Baker for the mile and half mile is another. That these men are dangerous for all American athletes is undoubted, but at the same time there are many runners in this country who, if they can be induced to join the team which goes to Stockholm on the Finland, will make the Englishmen run faster than they have flies far to get away with the honors. The west is particularly strong in sprinters just now, and it is more than likely that that section will be called upon to uphold the honor of America.

In the 100 meter race F. R. Craig, with his undisputed record of 9 4-5 seconds for 100 yards and his 21 1-5 seconds for 220 yards, is the pick of the lot and of the country. If he can be induced to join the team he will give McMillan the races of his life beyond question. His team mates from the west might include F. R. Bollett of the Chicago Athletic association, with a record of 10 seconds; J. Wasson of Notre Dame and C. Cook of Ohio State universities, both of them equal to 10 1-5 seconds, while H. W. Ford, who ran second to Craig when he made the 200 meters in 21 3-5 seconds is by no means a weakling.

In the east the sprinters are not so strong, but Alvin Meyer is coming fast, having already left Rosenberger, his club mate of the Irish American Athletic club, behind. Gwin Henry of Texas, if he comes back, and he says he can, may make the team and add materially to its strength. Under these circumstances the confidence of British athletes may be considerably shaken when these men begin to show their speed.

When it comes to the middle distances, the 400 and 800 meter runs, this country is strong, both east and west. Ira Davenport of the University of Chicago has done better than 49 for the quarter and has a record of 1 minute 26 4-5 seconds for the half, while Lester Burdum of the University of Missouri has made the distances in 42 seconds and 1 minute 48 seconds respectively. F. P. J. Lindberg of the Chicago Athletic association has made the quarter in 49 seconds, and F. C. Clark of Miami University and John Davine of Notre Dame have run the half in 1 minute 57 seconds. In the east the mention of Shepherd, Rivat, Gushing, Frick, Valentin and McAltee is enough to show the quality of the possible competitors, while Shepherd and Rivat, with Jones of Cornell in the mile, should give a good account of themselves.

If Jones and Berna of Cornell join the team nothing that England can produce is likely to come near beating them. Certainly Baker, who is the best of the English string, cannot be expected to show sufficient development to catch the Cornellians. In the west the best man is probably Hanrahan of the University of Michigan, who gave Jones such a good race last year, while Bonhag and Kramer are by no means out of consideration. There are no hurdlers in England the equal of half a dozen in this country, and if W. A. Edwards of California starts, J. C. Case of the University of Illinois is his most likely competitor.

In the field sports America ought to beat England in most of the events. George Horine, holder of the world's running high jump of 6 feet 6 3/4 inches. H. P. Porter, the champion of the Olympiad of 1908, with a record of 6 feet 3 3/4 inches, is still in form, while Thomas of the New York Athletic club and H. Wahl of the University of Wisconsin have made 6 feet 2 inches; H. Marshall of the Chicago Athletic association 6 feet 2 1/4 inches, and several others have records of 5 feet, the last figure being about the limit of the English jumpers. Among the pole vaulters eligible to represent this country, Walter Dray of the Chicago Athletic association, with his 12 feet 9 3/4 inches, is at the head, while Babcock, Murphy, Collie, Schobinger, Murphy and Wagoner all have done better than 12 feet. Then there is a host of broad jumpers, headed by P. C. Irons, with his record of more than 25 feet. F. L. Holmes is another good man at the standing broad jump, and is also among the best at the hop, step and jump now that Dan Ahern has gone back to England, where he will compete for that country. In throwing the javelin Avey Brundage of Chicago stands high, with his 155 feet, while A. M. Mucks will be hard to beat with the discus, for he has done better than 150 feet in practice. In the hammer and weight events this country ranks first beyond a doubt.

All this calculation by both America and England may be upset, however, when the other nations send their men to the scratch in the games, for Germany and Sweden have not been idle and have been developing some pretty high class athletes, notably Braun of Germany, who is a fiercer over the middle distances. Sweden's athletes have been in charge of Ernest Hjertberg for some time, and when he sends them to the mark they may surprise the rest. Hjertberg was a first class runner at the time of the old New Jersey Athletic club. Afterward he was the trainer of the Columbia university team and was mainly instrumental in developing the Irish American Athletic club team. He went over to his native land something more than a year ago to become official coach and trainer for all Sweden, and there are reports that some speedy athletes have been developed. Certainly the distance men should be good ones, and there is no reason why, with the application of modern American methods to the development of athletes, there should not be some record breakers on the Swedish team.

PECULIAR ONE-ON BAKER

"TALK about playing the batters," says Jim Delehanty, "I'll tell you a peculiar one:

"Now, year before last, this dark skinned Baker of Philadelphia couldn't hit a ball by me. In one game we were one run ahead of them and the ninth inning they got bases full with one out, and I moves over within ten feet of first base for some reason or other and gets away back on the grass. "Do you know that that Baker hit that ball through there at a mile a minute gait, and I didn't have to move out of my tracks to get it—just stuck my hands up, caught it and tossed to first for an easy double play."

"Baker couldn't get a ball by me year before last. I was always playing right in the way of the balls he hit, but last year, no matter how I would move or where I would play for him, it seemed that he could get a ball by me every time. I could never play him right."

SOUTHPAW RUSSELL READY FOR DUTY.

"Lefty" Russell, Connie Mack's $12,000 beauty, claims his arm has now recovered its full strength, and he expects to show some of the class which he displayed while a member of the Baltimore team.

Hawaiian Is a Real Human Fish

HAWAIIAN swimmers have for many years been noted for speed and endurance, but they have never competed in this country until now, and there is a fair prospect of the representative from that territory, Duke Kahanamoku, representing this country in the Olympic games in Sweden. He belongs to the Hui Malu Swimming club of Honolulu and holds the 50 and 100 yard records.

He is also credited with 45 4-5 seconds for the century in salt water, which is a fifth of a second faster than the world's record, held by Cecil Hoyer of Australia, but the time was made in practice and is not a record. His best time for the distance in fresh water is 53 2-5 seconds.

Previous to his arrival in this country a few months ago Kahanamoku never swam in an indoor tank, and on his first appearance at Pittsburgh he started out with tremendous speed, but the unaccustomed turns wore him out, and he was taken from the water in a fainting condition. On the second occasion he did a good deal better. He did not win the distance championship there, although he took two sprinting titles. He then went to Pennsylvania to take advantage of the fine coaching of Kistler, who believes him to be the greatest swimmer in the world. In the championship in Chicago last month he made a splendid showing. He will compete in different outdoor meets this summer.

"THE greatest hitting and fielding first baseman of the future," said Johnny Kling, "will be a left hander. Of this I am certain, and I got my eye from the work of Daubert of Brooklyn, who beat the Cubs in two games by perfect fielding stunts when the squeeze play would have won games from them last summer prior to my trade to Boston."

Mack Calls Bender Most Dependable Pitcher

CONNIE MACK says that "Big Chief" Bender is the most dependable pitcher in the country. He is always ready and in condition to go in and pitch a great close article of ball. He is now in fine shape to help the Athletics win another pennant.

Bob Harmon, the Cardinals' Crack Pitcher

ACCORDING to Manager Bresnahan, Bob Harmon should be one of the best pitchers in the National this year. He has everything that goes to make up a first class slabster. Now that this is his third season with the Cards the experience he has gained should place him among the leaders.

WM. DORR ARRESTED

In Connection With Murder of Marsh in Lynn

STOCKTON, Cal., April 12.—William Dorr, arrested here last night in connection with the recent murder in Lynn, Mass., of Geo. Marsh, an aged capitalist, told Chief of Police Blaine that he had not been east of Chicago since he left Stockton five weeks ago, when he was arrested, and that his hair had been dyed. He was guarded as a laborer, although before leaving Stockton he was one of the best dressed men here.

He explained these alterations in his appearance by saying he had decided to go to work.

TRIED FOR MURDER

Redding Said to Have Confessed

NEW HAVEN, April 12.—Coroner Mix yesterday read on the witness stand in the superior court the confession alleged to have been made to him by George Redding, Jr., aged 21, who on trial charged with the murder of Morris Greenberg, aged 24, near this city.

According to the coroner's story, Redding said he needed money, and having reason to believe that his friend Greenberg had plenty of it, told him of a farmer who had a quantity of apples that he would sell cheaply. Greenberg, who was a fruit peddler, wanted to go to the farmer's house at once, but Redding put him off until later in the day.

Redding then went home and put a loaded revolver in his overcoat pocket and met Greenberg by appointment at the end of a trolley car line. It is alleged that after walking two or three miles in the woods Redding informed Greenberg that he had lost his way. Greenberg became suspicious and Redding, who up to that time said he had been unable to muster sufficient courage, determined that the deed must be done at once, declares the confession.

While packing up a slight bill, Greenberg leading, Redding pulled the revolver from his pocket and fired into Greenberg's back, it says. Greenberg fell to the ground, and Redding then dashed into the bushes.

He reappeared a moment later and said to Greenberg: "What's the matter? Did he rob you?" trying to make Greenberg believe that someone else had shot him. "Did you have any money?" continued Redding, where-

Everybody's Doing It

Blowing for the "LOWELL HIGHLANDS."

Why? The man today who made the "Lowell Highlands" what it is, at the corner of PARKER and RICHMOND streets, at the famous GREEN'S CORNERS, any time between 2 p. m. and 6 p. m. and if you can't today, meet him any afternoon this week from 2 p. m. to 6 p. m. and see the reason why everyone is doing it.

Two new homes, with every modern convenience (that are different) distinctly Russell. Let me show them to you. If you can't understand the last sentence above, please meet me and give me a chance to explain and show you for I can and will have the same things to you, that you ought to know before you buy a home, or a house lot, that perhaps you don't know now.

Remember today is the day of special attention.

MY SPECIALTY is the selling of the best houses and best house lots in the best residential sections of Lowell, namely: "LOWELL HIGHLANDS," near St. Margaret's church, also the best house lots on the WILDER LAND, around the "WIGGILL CREEK HOUSE," also the five best corner house lots on "LYNN PARK," on the left hand side of Westford st., going out Westford street, also the best building lots in CENTRALVILLE, namely "CENTRALVILLE HEIGHTS."

Ask me about this new sub-division of land that was opened last Saturday. There are some exceptionally good bargains that I can and will give you in the above lots, and if interested, call on me, or own your own home, don't fail to see

HINTING AT A HABIT OF HIS.

"I have troubles of my own."
"Sure they aren't in your wife's name?"

SLIPPERY.

"He is a pretty slippery fellow."
"Yes, if he were an automobile, you would call him a skidder."

BREAKABLE.

"Can you believe what he says?"
"No; his promises are always brittle."

WOMEN'S TRAINS, THE AWKWARD THING.

WANT EXTRADITION PAPERS

LYNN, April 12.—Two police inspectors went to Newburyport today to make the necessary arrangements with District Attorney Atwell to apply to Governor Foss for extradition papers for William A. Dorr, under arrest in Stockton, Cal., charged with the murder of George Marsh of Lynn. They expected to see the governor later in the day.

GEORGE RICHARDS

Was Given Sentence for Bigamy

LAWRENCE, April 12.—George Richards, who was arrested in Manchester, N. H., was sentenced in police court yesterday to 15 months in the house of correction for bigamy. His first wife caused his arrest on a statutory charge in Lowell last month. The woman who was arrested with him produced a marriage certificate showing that she had married him in this city last September. Richards was released on bail and disappeared, but was found in Manchester.

THE REFERENDUM

Defeated in House of Representatives

BOSTON, April 12.—In the Massachusetts house of representatives yesterday afternoon the initiative and referendum resolve for an amendment of the state constitution was defeated. The vote stood 142 in favor and 77 against the resolve, but it required a two-thirds vote and this was lacking. The so-called "rail train crew bill" was under discussion when the house adjourned. It comes up today under the head of unfinished business.

By a vote of 13 to 11, with six pairs, the state senate yesterday killed the so-called "Public Opinion" bill. There was no debate.

The senate refused to reconsider the engrossment of the 2-in-12 hours bill for arrest, railway employees.

The important contest in the senate came on Senator Tinkham's bill to permit mutual fidelity insurance companies to insure banking corporations against loss through the fraud or dishonesty of their officials. This measure was passed to be engrossed on Tuesday. Yesterday this action was reconsidered and a lengthy debate ensued, after which the bill engrossed again, 17 to 9.

MUST COME DOWN

Building in Merrimack Square is Condemned

Francis A. Connor, inspector of buildings for the city of Lowell, has condemned the building owned by the heirs of Joseph L. Chaffoux, at Nos. 16-20 Merrimack street and has ordered that it be torn down and removed. The following notice relative to the removal of the building was served by Deputy Sheriff Martin Courtney, this forenoon:

Commonwealth of Massachusetts, Middlesex ss.
Paul L. Chaffoux, Asst. and Heir of the Estate of Joseph L. Chaffoux, late of Lowell, in said county:

You are hereby notified that the building now owned by the heirs of Joseph L. Chaffoux, at Nos. 16-20 Merrimack street in said Lowell, has been and is condemned by the inspector of buildings of the city of Lowell; that the same is unsafe for the purpose for which it is intended or used, in that the easterly end of said building which adjoins land of John H. Harrington said Lowell is undermined, and the timber and beams supporting said easterly end of said building are so rotted and decayed that thereby said building is rendered not only unsafe for occupancy, but dangerous to public life and limb. And you are hereby notified to tear down and remove the same, and thereafter clear the highway of all debris within three weeks from the date of the receipt of this notice by you.

Francis A. Connor, Inspector of Buildings.
Notices were also sent to Messrs. George Fairburn and Albert E. O'Hair, who occupy the building. They were advised that the building had been condemned by the inspector of buildings and were notified to remove their effects and property therefrom within two weeks and three days from the receipt of the notice.

LEGAL NOTICES

COMMONWEALTH OF MASSACHUSETTS, Middlesex ss. Probate Court.
To the heirs-at-law, next of kin, creditors, and all other persons interested in the estate of John Keefe, late of Lowell, in said County, deceased, intestate.

Whereas a petition has been presented to said Court, praying for administration on the estate of said deceased to Patrick Keefe, of Lowell, in the County of Middlesex, without bond, and the said Court has granted the same, and the said Patrick Keefe has taken the oath of office as administrator of said estate, and the said Court has ordered that the following notice be published in the Lowell Sun, a newspaper published in Lowell, the last publication to be on one day, at least, before said Court holds its next term.

Witness, Charles J. McIntire, Esquire, First Judge of said Court, this fifteenth day of April, in the year one thousand nine hundred and twelve.
W. E. ROGERS, Register.

To the Honorable the Justices of the Superior Court within and for the County of Middlesex:

Respectfully begs to be remembered by Frederick of Cambridge, in said County, that he was lawfully married to Mary Frederick, now of Fort Haysbury, in the State of Cape Breton, Province of Nova Scotia, at Waltham in said County of Middlesex, on the twenty-seventh day of January, A. D. 1905, and that said Mary Frederick, lived together as husband and wife in this Commonwealth, to wit: at Boston, in the County of Suffolk (and out of the Commonwealth, at North Sydney, Cape Breton); that your libellant has always been faithful to his marriage vows and obligations, but the said Mary Frederick, being wholly regardless of the same, at Sidney Mines, Cape Breton, on about the tenth day of April, A. D. 1906, utterly deserted your libellant, and has continued such desertion from that time to the date hereof, being more than one year and nine months before the filing of this libel.

Wherefore your libellant prays that a divorce from the bonds of matrimony may be decreed between you, libellant and the said Mary Frederick.

Dated this thirtieth day of March, A. D. 1912.

WILLIAM H. FREDENICK, Plaintiff.

COMMONWEALTH OF MASSACHUSETTS, Middlesex ss. Superior Court, April 4, A. D. 1912.

Upon the libel aforesaid, it is ordered that the libellant notice be called to appear before said Justices of said Court, at Cambridge, in said County, on the first Monday of May next, to wit: on the first day of May, at the hour of ten o'clock in the forenoon, for the purpose of being heard on the order thereon, and the said notice be published in The Lowell Sun, a newspaper published in Lowell, in the County of Middlesex, once a week, for the purpose of being read to the libellant, and that an attested copy of said libel and order thereon be sent by registered letter to the residence of the libellant, as set out in the libel, that she may then and there answer said libel, and that the prayer in said libel set forth should not be granted.

WM. C. DILLINGHAM, Clerk.
A true copy of the libel and of the order thereon.
WM. C. DILLINGHAM, Clerk.
